Greek Guerilla Chief Said Killed in Action

ATHENS, (AP)—An unconfirmed press dispatch said Saturday that the self-styled leader of the anti-government guerilla forces in Greece, identified only as "Captain Markos," had been killed in action.

Only a week ago, the United Nations Balkan investigating commission established field teams in an effort to find Markos. The commission is investigating Greek complaints that guerilla forces in Greece received aid from Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia.

Pericles Eliades, a member of the Greek parliament, whose daughter was slain recently by guerillas, said last month he personally would "execute" Markos if he appeared before the commission as had been suggested.

Other press reports said 52 guerillas had been slain and 27 captured when mountain brigade units surprised and attacked a large insurgent band south of Olympus. Another band was reported routed on Mount Vermion, where a large munition dump was discovered.

100 Labor M.P.'s May 'Rebel' Unless Britain's Forces Cut

LONDON, (AP)— Prime Minister Attlee was confronted Saturday by a rebellion of more than 100 Labor members of parliament who demanded that Britain's present armed force of more than 1,000,000 men be cut by almost one-half in order to boost the labor supply.

This development in the ranks of Attlee's party came as Conservative Leader Churchill called upon the commons to overthrow the Labor government Wednesday by a vote of "no confidence" in its socialist plans for British industrial recovery.

The dissenting Labor members, some of whom gained the name "rebels" in their break with Foreign Secretary Bevin over his policies, won Attlee's agreement to hear their case at a Labor party caucus Monday.

Churchill's motion called Labor's plans for industrial recovery "either inadequate or injurious" but it refrained from accusing the government of "tyranny, conceit and incompetence," as he had promised earlier.

Passage of the motion would force the government to resign, possibly for a new election to determine whether a majority of voters still backed the Socialist regime they installed with a landslide vote 20 months ago, that snowed under the Conservatives.

The dissenting Labor M.P.'s however, were not hitched to Churchill's misgivings, and overthrow of the government appeared unlikely. The Conservatives in general support Attlee's call for maintenance of an army of more than 1,000,000 men. Labor remains solid behind the Attlee economic policies outlined in the recent white papers, except on the phase of manpower and the army.

Underwear, Blankets Rushed to Britain

TORONTO, (CP)— Almost 400,000 pieces of underwear and blankets are being rushed to the United Kingdom by the Canadian Red Cross to assist in the present coal shortage and cold surplus.

Asks Tax Relief For 'White Collars'

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA.—Demands for tax reductions are old stuff in the commons.

Its not even very unusual to hear a Liberal member plead with his own party's government to cut taxes. But a special plea for that forlorn and forgotten man "the white collar worker" is news.

A Liberal member, Louis O. Breithaupt of Kitchener did that Friday. Mr. Breithaupt runs a leather company, an investment and insurance business in Kitchener.

White collar workers, he said, were overlooked and neglected people. "But when it comes to raising money for the Red Cross, for crippled children, for community chests and all that sort of thing, no greater support is given than by this group."

Ninety percent of all Canadian taxpayers earned $3,000 a year or less, he told the house, and to encourage this group he wanted an all-round reduction in income tax and a further simplification of present methods of enforcing its collection.

High taxes ruined the incentive of this great body of Canadian taxpayers. High employment and productivity could not be attained if the present widespread uneasiness and bad feeling about "take home pay" were allowed to continue.

Unity of Americas Canadian Concern

NEW YORK, (CP)—L. B. (Mike) Pearson, Canadian under-secretary of state, said here Saturday that Canada would play its "full part to ensure the security and promote the progress" of the Americas.

Mr. Pearson said in an address prepared for delivery to the New York Herald-Tribune forum that the "short" answer to the question of why Canada had not joined the pan-American union was that "we have never been asked."

This lack of invitation, however, had not caused Canada "any great distress," he added, because of two reasons.

The first of these was that the dominion already belonged to two "clubs"—the British Commonwealth and the United Nations—and the second was that "we are satisfied that our relationships of friendship and mutual interest with the other American countries will continue to grow irrespective of membership or non-membership in any formal organization."

Mr. Pearson, former Canadian ambassador to Washington, stressed that he spoke as a Canadian citizen and not an official.

Canada stood today as a free and democratic nation within the British Commonwealth but "ready and able to co-operate with the other American nations," said Mr. Pearson. "We are, I think, a nation strong enough to make co-operation with us worthwhile, both in peace and in war."

$600 in Currency Lost on Street

Loss of a canvas bag containing $600 in currency, somewhere in downtown Edmonton, was reported to police Friday night by E. Skogg, a driver for the U.S. Post Exchange. Skogg told police the bag was lost from his car about 3:25 p.m. while he was driving between the post office and the U.S. finance office on 102 st.

Jewish Terrorist Suspects Rounded Up By British Soldiers

British soldiers armed with rifles march Jewish terrorist suspects to an interrogation point in Jerusalem as other troops one of them armed with a sub-machine-gun, guard the escort party from a wall. Martial law has been declared in some areas in the Holy Land as renewed violence breaks out. Underground terrorist organizations were said responsible for the outbreaks. Twenty thousand British troops carried out an intensive search for terrorists Friday.

Truman Asks Quarter-Billion To Bolster War-Torn Greece

By Peter Inglis

WASHINGTON.— It would have been nice to lounge in the Caribbean warmth under an awning on the fantail of the Williamsburg and watch the U.S. Atlantic fleet go through its paces.

But President Truman will not be there to appreciate his yacht's new coat of peacetime white—nor to feel a pang at the peacetime depletion of a great navy. (The Atlantic fleet has operational, one battleship, one carrier and some smaller craft.)

Mr. Truman had an appointment in Washington.

It might turn out to be an appointment with history.

Is Modest Man

President Truman is fundamentally a modest man. It took a long time, for instance, for him to reach the stage of headline glamor that has at last endowed him with an appreciation to match his predecessor's "F.D.R."

It would therefore probably not occur to "Mr. T." that the burden being placed on his lean but square shoulders might be almost as great as the one carried by the heavier but rounder shoulders of F.D.R.

He must, just as Roosevelt did during the years when it was still an European war, steer the U.S. away from deceptive comforts of a cosy isolation, back to the hard road of world responsibility.

Must Face Congress

First of all he must ask congress—an opposition congress and one that has been revelling in the joys of budget-cutting—for money for Greece.

Specifically, he must ask for $250,000,000 as the first cost of replacing Britain as a bulwark against Soviet expansion into that war-shattered little country.

After that there will be other harsh things to ask.

The policy of being firm with Russia has not been just the policies of Byrnes and Marshall: It has been the policy of Truman.

In a world in which Britain is being forced to end her centuries-long role of policeman and in which the United States is the only possible candidate to take over the job and thereby prevent chaos, $250,000,000 to one small country is just a beginning.

Is Historic Task

This week-end, therefore, instead of taking his ease to the southward, Mr. Truman—the man whom nobody, including himself, had thought would earn a place in history—will be preparing for a historic and awesome task.

He will be preparing to turn the world's richest republic, for the second time in less than a decade, away from the enjoyment of its wealth; away from the quiet pasture it had longed for through the war; back through the gate for another journey.

Drew Libel Suit To Open Monday

TORONTO, (CP) — Premier Drew's $100,000 libel action against the Toronto Star and Joseph E. Atkinson opens here Monday before a special assize court jury.

The suit, hearing of which has been postponed several times, is based on six editorials dealing with issues in the Ontario general election June 4, 1945.

Premier Drew, who asked for a special jury, said in his statement of claim that he had been exposed and held up to ridicule and contempt and greatly damaged in his character and reputation by publication of the editorials. They were said to have been based on election campaign charges by C.C.F. Leader E. B. Jolliffe that the Drew government maintained a secret political police.

The statement of defence reviewed the Jolliffe charges and said it was the duty of the defendants and in the public interest to publish editorial comment and criticism on campaign speeches. The editorials were published in good faith and without malice "under such circumstances and upon such occasion as to render them privileged."

Reds Suppress American Protest

BUDAPEST, (AP) — A well-informed Hungarian official said Friday Soviet Lt.-Gen. V. P. Sviridov had forbidden newspaper publication of the United States note protesting against Russian interference in Hungarian affairs and Communist attempts to control the government.

This official told a representative of the U.S. legation that Gyula Ortutay, manager of the official Hungarian news agency MTI, had "received direct orders from Sviridov to suppress the note."

Sviridov is commander of the Russian occupation forces and acting chairman of the Allied control council for Hungary. A copy of the U.S. protest was delivered to him March 5.

In addition, several Hungarian newspapermen said members of the Communist-dominated political police had visited all newspapers and warned editors not to print the note.

Chile Takes Over British Company

SANTIAGO, Chile, (AP) — The government Friday took over temporary operation of the British-owned Nitrate Railways company lines in Tarawaca province, after service had been suspended three days by a strike of workers demanding a pay increase.

M.P. Says Britain 'Bled White by War'

DUBLIN, (AP)— Capt. Hugh J. Delargy, Labor member of the British commons for Manchester, wrote in an Eire newspaper Saturday that "Britain can never again be a military power of the first order."

"It is bled white by war," he said in a dispatch from London published in President Eamon de Valera's Irish Press, for which Delargy is parliamentary correspondent.

Delargy recalled that Winston Churchill once remarked that he had not become prime minister to "preside over the liquidation of the empire."

"Winston Churchill is prime minister no longer, and even if he were the result would still be the same," Delargy wrote. "The process of disintegration is too certain for the resistance of even a thousand Churchills ...

"Never in the world's history did an enormous empire come to such a sudden end."

Bevin Arrives For Moscow Meet

MOSCOW, (AP)—Foreign Secretary Bevin arrived here about noon, first of the visiting foreign ministers to reach the Soviet capital for Monday Big Four session.

Other British officials arriving were Lt.-Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, British commander in Germany, and his political advisor, Sir William Strang.

Expected late Saturday or Sunday was Foreign Minister Bidault of France, also travelling by rail. State Secretary Marshall, who flew from the United States, was not expected to arrive before Sunday.

Streets Cleared of Snow

Hundreds of Russians Friday cleared Moscow streets of snow and ice in sunny weather, and others worked at painting, cleaning and otherwise refurbishing the Aviation Industry building, where the ministers will meet; the railroad station awaiting their arrival, and the Metropolis and Moskva hotels, where diplomats and foreign correspondents will stay.

Bevin said on his arrival, "We shall spend the days ahead trying to make some peace which will prevent any future aggression and let the whole world live in security."

Bevin was received officially by Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky, dressed in the steel gray uniform of the Soviet foreign office.

Vishinsky, after saying "welcome to Moscow," told Bevin he hoped the British visitor was well rested because "after March 10 I'm not so sure about it."

News Blacked Out

A stringent news blackout was clamped on Russian press and radio Saturday.

No Moscow newspapers carried a line on the conference, or about Germany or Austria, and the radio, usually prolific in world-wide news and comment, also by-passed it.

Noted Geographer, H. J. McKinder Dies

LONDON, (AP)— Sir Halford John McKinder, 86, the famed British geographer whose theory of geopolitics was adopted by Hitler as a plan for conquering Europe, died Friday at his Dorset home.

As early as 1902 Sir Halford warned that Great Britain's sea power would be threatened by any nation that could seize the "heartland" of Europe and Asia and extend that control to the coasts. That reasoning was the basic design of Hitler's dream of world power.

SIMONDS DECORATED

LONDON, (CP) — The United States Friday bestowed the Legion of merit on Lt.-Gen. Guy Granville Simonds of Kingston, Ont., commander of the 2nd Canadian Corps through the campaigns in northwest Europe.

Millions of Hitler's 'Mein Kampf' Vanished, Military Probe Reveals

BERLIN, (AP) — Although there were millions of copies of Adolf Hitler's "Mein Kampf" printed in Germany, the United States library of congress is having difficulty finding even 150 in the entire American occupation zone, John Rhind of the military government's education branch branch said Saturday.

"However, we have reports there may be many copies available in the black market where, Germans say, the book is a popular item and brings $200."

Rhind is a member of a military government force appointed to purge German public and commercial libraries of literature of a Nazi or militaristic nature, under an order issued by the four-powered Allied control authority.

The American group is working with a master catalogue of 18,000 banned titles which are to be destroyed by grinding them into pulp to make new paper for school text books and note books.

It is planned, however, to preserve 150 copies of each banned book.

Rhind said the scarcity of Hitler's books may be due to several factors.

"The germans may have hidden or destroyed them in fear. Then too, American troops picked up many as souvenirs."

7 Engines Attempt Rescue Politician

TORONTO, (CP) — Every effort is being made to make it possible for Farquhar Oliver to attend Monday's session of the Ontario legislature.

The opposition leader has been snowbound at his home in Priceville, near Owen Sound.

A snowplow propelled by seven locomotives was working on the C.P.R. tracks so that a coach would be sent to have the opposition leader here Monday.

Sentenced to Die For Slaying Girl

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., (CP) — Sidney George Chambers, 34, was convicted Friday of murder in the strangle-slaying last Dec. 23 of nine-year-old Marian Rusnak. Mr. Justice G. F. McFarland sentenced him to be hanged June 6.

The canning plant watchman and boiler tender, who told police in a statement admitted as evidence that he took the little girl to his room Dec. 23, smothered her, kept her body under his bed 24 hours and then burned it in a canning plant furnace Christmas Eve, showed no emotion as the jury foreman announced the verdict in the hushed courtroom.

"I want to thank the jury," he said in a firm voice. "They will see no more of me."

In his confession, he had stated he met the little girl who carried a Christmas present for her brother. He had invited her to his room, he said, and promised her another present for the brother. He described how the child had gone to the window to look out, how he had grabbed her with one hand over her face to keep her from calling out and how she had gone limp in his arms.

Crown to Appeal Dick Acquittal

TORONTO, (CP) — The crown will appeal against the acquittal of Mrs. Evelyn Dick on a charge of murder in the torso slaying a year ago of her husband, Attorney-General Leslie Blackwell announced Friday.

The 26-year-old Hamilton widow was acquitted Thursday in Hamilton at her second trial on the murder charge. Convicted last fall, she appealed and the Ontario court of appeal set aside the conviction and ordered a new trial.

Mr. Blackwell said the ground of appeal would be "that the learned trial judge (Chief Justice J. C. McRuer) was wrong in law in rejecting as evidence statements made by the accused to police officers tendered by the crown at the trial."

Threat of Floods Eased in Europe

LONDON, (AP)—Slightly lower temperatures eased the threat of floods in western Europe Monday and more snow fell throughout the British Isles.

Temperatures in London and southern England rose slightly, but weather forecasters warned that there was no sign of a break in the two-month cold wave.

Snow and ice blocked transportation between London and provincial areas. Authorities said £3,000,000 ($12,000,000) had been spent on road clearance and that 10,000 troops had been marshalled to help open clogged traffic lanes during the week-end.

Britain's factory owners were told by the board of trade Friday night that they would receive exactly one-third of their normal coal quota until the coal shortage crisis—caused in part by blocked transport—is eased. Iron and steel plants will get 50 percent of normal needs.

The four-day thaw isolated some French villages and high water was reported along the lower Seine and from the Pas de Calais area.

Fields near Abbeville in the Somme were under three to four feet of water.

Avalanches loosed by several days of rain blocked traffic on some secondary roads in Switzerland and meteorologists warned of additional snowslides.

Property Loss Great In Looting and Arson

NEW DELHI, (AP)—Official reports showed Saturday that 192 persons were killed and 580 wounded in riots this week in Punjab province, current trouble spot in an India split by religious and political differences in its struggle toward independence.

Dispatches from Punjab, in northwestern India, reported Friday night that a British and Indian brigade had restored order in Amritsar, where Sikhs and Hindus battled Moslems for more than two days with swords, hatchets, iron bars and similar weapons.

These reports said that in Multan renewed rioting forced authorities to reimpose a curfew relaxed after 22 hours and that in Lahore new stabbing victims were appearing at hospitals.

Outbreaks of fighting, burning and looting broke out after a coalition cabinet made up of Hindus, Sikhs and Moslems outside the Moslem League resigned early this week under pressure from the Moslem League. The league has been unable to command enough support in the legislature to form its own government. The British governor, Sir Evan Jenkins, has been administering the province's affairs.

E. Brook, Delhi Statesman correspondent just back from the Punjab, estimated Saturday 40,000 persons were homeless with many houses still burning.

In the ancient city of Multan alone, 90 persons were killed and 115 injured. More bodies were expected to be found in ruins of houses burned when seven streets of the city were reduced to ashes.

About 40 persons were reported killed and 121 injured in Amritsar during the rioting. Property damage due to looting and arson was estimated at more than $6,000,000.

About 50,000 refugees were reported taking shelter in Amritsar's famous Golden Temple, sacred to the Sikhs. Some were said to be Moslem women who were being fed and cared for by Sikhs.

Robert L. Coombes, 17, who is being held without bail at Malden, Mass., in connection with the slaying of 11-year-old Jacqueline Maxwell. He has pleaded innocent to the charge. Parents of both Coombes and the little girl have appealed for legislation to prevent known sex offenders such as Coombes to be at large until they are cured.

C.C.F. Non-Confidence Move Goes Down to Defeat, 168-26

By H. R. Hardy

OTTAWA. — The Progressive Conservatives and the Social Crediters backed up the government in the commons Friday night when a C.C.F. sponsored non-confidence motion was defeated by a vote of 168 to 26. The ballot was on the first of three such tests of strength which the government is expected to face by Tuesday.

The vote was on a C.C.F. sub-amendment, containing two appendages, to a Progressive Conservative amendment to the motion in reply to the speech from the throne, which charged non-confidence.

After the vote, Solon Low, Social Credit leader, submitted his party's sub-amendment, which probably will come to a vote on Monday. Balloting on the Progressive Conservative non-confidence motion should come before the house not later than Tuesday.

Claims Failures Many

In addition to the straight amendment claiming that the government no longer has the confidence of the people of Canada, the C.C.F. appendages held that the government had showed a tendency toward policies of uncontrolled and unplanned private enterprise, which had resulted in the pre-war depression, and that it had failed to introduce measures for the social isolation of financial institutions and monoplistic industries of the country.

Mr. Low, pointing out that his party was backing the general policy of the Progressive Conservative amendment, asked for a statement on the positive proposals of that party.

The Social Credit sub-amendment carried the following four appendages:

1. Return to parliament of complete and effective control of Canada's financial policy.
2. Use of national credit to meet at least some of the financial requirements for essential services.
3. Removing the discouragements to the production and sale in Canada of building materials of all kinds, and provision of financial assistance required for an all-out housing program.
4. Redefining and clarifying of constitutional rights and responsibilities of dominion and provincial governments, together with the adoption of scientific formulae for alloting to the provinces sufficient revenues to enable them to fully discharge their responsibilities without increasing the tax burden already borne by their people.

Says Trend To Socialism

Earlier, in proposing the Progressive Conservative want-of-confidence motion, John Diefenbaker, Prog. Cons., Lake Centre, accused the government of "a definite trend toward Socialism."

Other speakers in the debate included John Blackmore, S.C., Lethbridge.

Mr. Blackmore said too much stress was being placed on production and too little on distribution. He felt it was a government responsibility to look after distribution.

The commons adopted a resolution of congratulations and well-wishes to Barbara Ann Scott, the Ottawa girl who returned home Friday after winning the world's figure skating championship.

Asks Snowplow Men To Watch for Car

DUANESBURG, N.Y., (AP) — Highway superintendents received this note from a farmer:

"When the snowplow opens the road past my place tell the men to be careful. There's a drift about 10 feet deep and 50 feet long just before you come to my house. My car is under it somewhere. I'm not quite sure just where."

7 Die as Revolt Ends in Paraguay

ASUNCION, (AP) — Seven persons were dead of gunfire and this capital of Paraguay was under strict curfew overnight as the government claimed to have smashed a short-lived armed revolt, blamed on "Communists and members of the opposition February (Febrerista) party" who, the government said, sought to overthrow President Higinio Morinigo and his nephew, Interior Minister Victor Morinigo.

Insurgents, government reports said, invaded police headquarters Friday and shot it out with Police Chief Gay Benitez, wounding him seriously before they were driven out and the uprising quelled.

A soldier and an officer of the guard were reported killed in the initial attack and four other soldiers and a civilian in the counter-attack.

Greek Crew Saved As Ship Founders

DEAL, Kent, England, (AP)—The Ira, 7,000-ton Greek coal ship, exploded and broke in two Saturday after running aground on the treacherous Goodwin Sands, but her 34-man crew was rescued despite panic in which some were injured.

The Ira, formerly the United States Liberty ship Harry Percy, was carrying coal to Antwerp on her first Atlantic crossing under the Greek flag when she went aground about midnight.

British seamen took the crew off in lifeboats. One of them, who helped direct the rescue, said he and shipmates were "swept away by a mad rush of Greek seamen" for the lifeboats. Coxswain Fred Upton, in a lifeboat 300 yards from the Greek ship when she fell apart, said he had "never seen such panic in all my life."

Fire on U.S. Liner Doused in 2 Hours

NEW YORK, (AP)—A fire that raged for two hours aboard the United States liner, John Ericsson, was declared under control Friday afternoon.

The British liner Queen Elizabeth, berthed at the same pier, continued to embark passengers for a scheduled sailing as firemen fought flames aboard the Ericsson.

Fire Commissioner Frank Quayle said most of the damage to the Ericsson was in the ship's superstructure. Huge sections of wood were chopped from the ship's deck.

'Piracy' Says U.S. Ship Captain As 60 Dutch 'Capture' Rich Cargo

BATAVIA, (AP)—Sixty Dutch marines, sailors and civil police boarded the United States freighter Martin Behrman Friday and overpowered the first mate as he attempted to raise the gangplank in carrying out the orders of his defiant captain to frustrate the Dutch authorities.

Tugboats nosed the ship to another dock for the unloading of her $3,000,000 cargo in accord with a confiscation order from the Netherlands East Indies government. The ship had been loaded at Cheribon, in republican Java, contrary to Dutch regulations.

Capt. Rudy Gray, who had notified the Dutch several hours before that he intended to sail for the United States, walked off the ship after informing Dutch navy Lieut. John Hamerslag that control of the vessel had been "taken from me forcefully by armed men."

"This is sheer piracy," he exclaimed.

Two civil police pinned the arms of First Mate Alexander Theophanus, New York city, behind his back when he tried to carry out Gray's instructions to raise the gangplank in the face of the boarding party, armed with sten guns, rifles and pistols.

Plea Is Made For Businessmen

By Richard Sanburn

OTTAWA.—Entrenched bureaucracy and perpetuated government controls took still another tongue-lashing in the commons Friday from John Diefenbaker, Prog. Cons., Lake Centre.

The businessmen of Canada, he declared, had been pushed around as if they were enemies of the state. Success in Canada has become the subject of depreciation. Honest businessmen, to many bureaucrats operating under government authority, had become objects of suspicion, tyrants to be denounced.

The bureaucratic attitude fostered and encouraged by the government "appears to consist of penalizing business, denouncing it, catechizing it, frustrating it, over-taxing it and at the same time expecting it to provide jobs."

"The danger of our economic system" warned Mr Diefenbaker, "is that the honest businessman, if harassed by snoopers, will find that the incentive to expand and to produce has been destroyed by excessive taxation, unnecessary interference and the maintenance of unfair and unjust control."

He thought the people of Canada had come to believe that "no longer should Canadians be required to dance like marionettes under the untrammelled control of bureaucrats appointed by and responsible only to the government."

The government, he declared, paid only lip service to private enterprise and acted in quite a different manner.

New York Market In Sharp Slump

NEW YORK, (AP)—Selling persisted in Saturday's stock market with offerings sufficient to put many leaders down fractions to a point or so.

Dealings slackened after a fairly active opening and extreme declines were reduced in most cases. Near the final hour trends again wavered on expanded volume.

Friday the stock market took its sharpest plunge of the year with prices dropping $1 to $8 or more a share. The ticker tape fell behind floor transactions briefly as selling orders piled up in the final half hour.

Liquidation was attributed by commission houses to customers' concern over the foreign situation, new predictions of a business recession and doubts over wage and tax prospects.

AND SO IT WOULD

Little Tommy was asked the difference between prose and poetry. He pondered for a while and then said: "There was a young man named Rees, who went into the sea up to his ankles."

"That's prose," he said. "But if the water had been a few inches higher it would have been poetry."

Says Nova Scotia Still Seeks Pact

HALIFAX, (CP)—Premier Angus L. Macdonald said Friday he does not despair of reaching some financial agreement with the federal government "but we want an agreement that is fair to this province and that has regard for the true principles on which a federal system should be based."

The premier, whose government has not signed an agreement with Ottawa since the wartime dominion-provincial agreement expired last Nov. 30, said in an address before the Halifax Junior Board of Trade that "the points at issue between us relate to the minor tax fields and the holding of conferences."

Nova Scotia was in favor of yearly dominion-provincial conferences, holding the view that if adjustments are to be made with certain provinces, "they should be made at a general conference where they could be discussed and where all provinces could express their views."

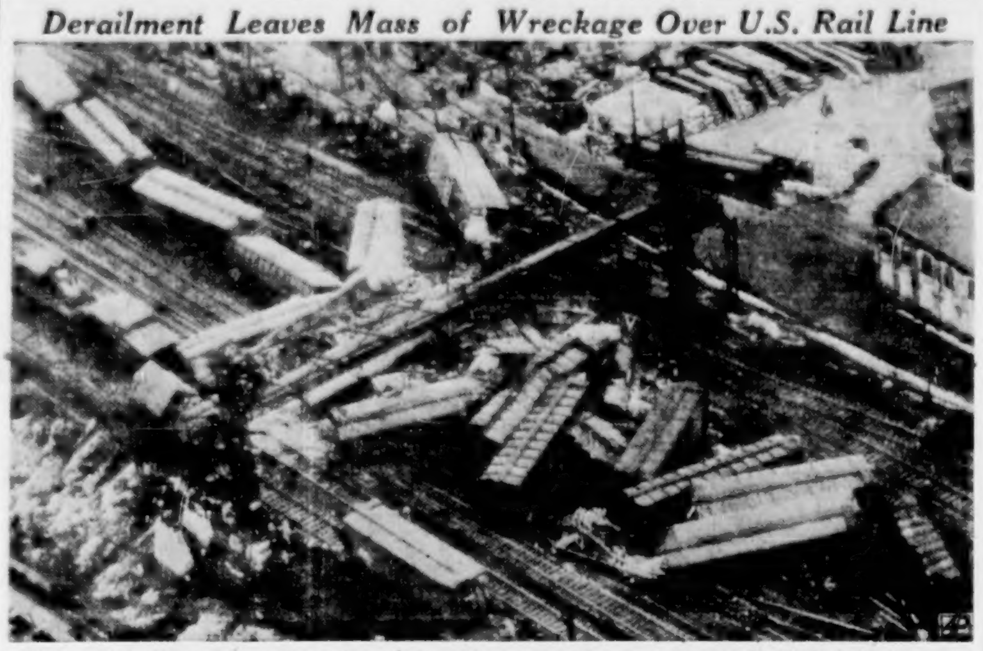
Derailment Leaves Mass of Wreckage Over U.S. Rail Line



This aerial view shows the jumbled mess of freight cars following derailment in Stamford, Conn., of nearly a score of cars of a 45-car freight train of the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad. The tangled cars temporarily blocked the four main tracks of the line, which is a principal connection between New York, Springfield and Boston.

Scores Slow Pace Of Rate Inquiry

OTTAWA, (CP)—Slow progress in the railway freight-rate case drew expressions of concern Friday from members of the board of transport commissioners as the inquiry rounded out its first month, with one commissioner declaring he had in this time heard no evidence to indicate a necessity for increases.

This declaration, by Commissioner J. A. Stoneman, was agreed to by counsel for the C.P.R., who said they had not yet had an opportunity of presenting their case fully and accused provincial representatives of "obstruction."

The month's wind-up session, before adjournment until Monday, brought into the record testimony by B. W. Roberts, C.P.R. vice-president of purchases and stores, that controls had prevented the C.P.R. from ordering as much equipment as it wished to during the war years.

Chief Commissioner J. A. Cross said he was "anxious" about the progress of the inquiry, and declared it seemed to be getting along slowly.

Assistant Chief Commissioner J. A. Wardrope, remarking that the provinces were trying to prove past errors in judgment by C.P.R. officials, said he wondered how far back the inquiry should go in this regard.

Jew Terrorists Defy British Rule

JERUSALEM, (AP) — Huge banners proclaiming defiance of British authorities by the underground Jewish organization Irgun Zvai Leumi were flung across power lines in the main street of Tel Aviv Saturday by a band of masked men.

The men strung the banners by means of large poles and then melted quickly into the crowds of the all-Jewish city, now ending a week under martial law imposed by British forces.

About an hour later soldiers removed the banners.

Manitoba Co-ops Must Pay 5% Tax

WINNIPEG, (CP) — Co-operatives in Manitoba will be subject to a five percent corporation income tax the same as any other corporation, Premier Garson said in the legislature Friday.

He spoke during the early stages of passage of a bill to establish the tax which Mr. Garson earlier said resulted from the Manitoba-federal agreement on fields of taxation.

The five percent corporation tax, announced by Manitoba, is part of the dominion-provincial tax transfer agreement and will be effective in all those provinces signing the agreement, including Alberta, officials here say.

Under terms of the agreement each province signing must levy the five percent tax. The tax applies to increased earnings by corporations within the province. The amount collected is deducted from the total payment to a province.

Atomic Work Aids Study Of Fertilizer Effects

SASKATOON, (CP) — Manufacture of the atomic bomb has provided Saskatchewan agricultural scientists with materials to study the effect of fertilizers on plants and may save farmers thousands of dollars.

Researchers now trace the course of fertilizers through plants using radioactive phosphorus. Previously, the cost of radio-active elements was prohibitive but with plants at Deep River, Ont., and in the United States the elements can be produced by the pound instead of by the one-millionth part of a gram.

Dr. J. W. T. Spinks, professor of physical chemistry at the University of Saskatchewan, is director of research. During the war he was attached to the R.C.A.F. operation research division and more recently was connected with the national research council atomic experiments.

Prairie scientists were among the first to take advantage of the new radioactive supplies of "tracer" material. They turned their attention to the effect of phosphorus fertilizer on wheat, Saskatchewan's main crop.

Experiments, financed by the national research council, have been conducted by Dr. Spinks.

Testing plots of wheat were set up on a farm near Saskatoon and radioactive phosphorus was introduced to some of the plots. The wheat was cut at two-week intervals and taken back to the laboratory for analysis.

Results of the experiment showed that the main uptake of fertilizer comes immediately prior to the "heading out" stage of growth; that little fertilizer phosphorus is taken up after the heading out stage but much soil phosphorus is, and that there is a transfer of phosphorus from stem and leaves to the head of the plant as it approahed maturity.

Experiments showing a high increase in the yield of wheat after summerfallow land had been treated with phosphate fertilizer were conducted by the soils department of the university. Other beneficial effects included earlier maturity, greater uniformity, better competition with weeds and generally more vigorous growth.

Scientists, working on all aspects of improving fertilizer practice, do not consider their recent experiments as final. They intend to continue their studies.

Bidding Extended On Canol Assets

WASHINGTON, (CP)— At the request of the Canadian government, the time for bidding on the Canol properties in the Yukon and the North West Territories has been extended to April 21.

The office of foreign liquidation announced Friday that bids will be opened on April 28.

Originally bids were to have closed March 20 and opened March 27. The announcement did not explain why Canada had asked for the extension. The porperty is at Norman Wells, N.W.T., and at Whitehorse, terminus of the pipe-line from Norman Wells. The installations are part of the $134,000,000 wartime development designed to provide oil for the Alaskan area at the time when that region was looked upon by the United States war department as a possible important war theatre.

OTTAWA, (CP)— Canada made no formal request but has asked United States government authorities if it would be possible to extend the date for closing of bids on the Canol properties to allow Canadian firms interested to get more information, an external affairs official said Friday night.

Drop Food, Medicine To Ontario Towns

TORONTO, (CP)—Several snowbound Ontario communities Saturday were baking bread, warming their homes and treating the sick with materials dropped Friday from the air or landed in ski-equipped planes.

Provincial government, private and commercial aircraft joined to make a total of 18 mercy flight expeditions.

Shelburne, a Dufferin county town of 2,200 persons, received fuel oil, yeast and penicillin, just in time to save two pneumonia patients, replenish the fast-dwindling fuel supply, and save the bread situation.

Britain Asks Probe Hungarian's Arrest

LONDON, (AP)— A foreign office spokesman said Saturday Britain had sent notes to Russia, Hungry and the Allied control council in Hungry proposing an "inquiry" into the arrest by Russians of Bela Kovacs, former secretary-general of the Hungarian Small Holders party.

The notes were delivered Friday, a day after a U.S. note to Moscow said the arrest constituted an "unjustified interference" by Russia in Hungry's internal affairs.

3 Building Firms 'In Difficulties'

VANCOUVER, (CP) — A. W. Cowley, director of the Citizens Rehabilitation council, said Friday night that three city construction companies were "in difficulties" concerning the building of veterans' homes here.

Veterans involved said that more than $1,000,000 in gratuities and private money, loaned to veterans for down payments on 133 building contracts for homes, was jeopardized in what they described as "the worst veterans' house building mess in Canada."

Mr. Cowley said an investigation was being conducted and the construction companies' books now were being audited by a veterans' affairs accountant.

Local contractors attributed material shortages and rising prices of construction as the underlying cause of the trouble. Companies involved were small contractors who had insufficient capital to continue operation in the face of delays in obtaining material.

Mr. Cowley said when the audit was completed, building societies would be formed to continue construction of the homes involved.

Farmers in Favor Of Some Controls

MONTREAL, (CP)—H. H. Hannam, president and general manager of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture said here Friday that Canadian farmers want continuation of "some government controls" to ensure them a stable market for their products.

In a speech before the Montreal branch of the Agricultural Institute of Canada, Mr. Hannam said that the farmer was not, as often pictured, a man continually asking for more. The government policy of gradual decontrol had upset the farmers' calculations and today he felt he was a long way from the balanced and secure markets of 1946.

Gift from the Heart...

BUT BLOOD DONORS MUST BE BACKED BY MONEY DONORS

Q. Does the Canadian Red Cross still need blood donors?

A. Yes. As in war — so in peace, the Red Cross carries on this life-giving service. And blood must still be backed by money donors.

Q. Why does the Red Cross require donations of both blood and dollars in peacetime?

A. For the new nation-wide free Blood Transfusion Service which the Red Cross is now organizing.

Q. Is this Blood Transfusion Service to be for civilians as well as for war veterans in hospital?

A. Yes. Through the Red Cross, blood plasma and whole blood will be supplied to all civilian hospitals across Canada — so that blood may be always available to any person requiring it.

Q. Will the Red Cross charge the hospitals or patients for this Blood Transfusion Service?

A. No. The Red Cross will charge neither hospital nor patient — with your help it is to be a gift from the heart — to the heart.

The supreme value of continuous blood transfusion service to Canadians cannot be measured in dollars and cents. But it is costing the Red Cross a lot of dollars to extend the work, to maintain the clinics, to process and distribute the blood. Money Donors to support the blood donors are what the Red Cross needs today.

Be a sharer in this great life-giving endeavor. Help save the lives of hundreds of mothers in childbirth, infants, hospital patients and accident victims. Remember, the Red Cross still needs your support. Every cent collected is used to good advantage. Make your money gift a true gift from the heart. Give now! Give MORE!

Major and Minor Notes

By John Oliver

In the last few years teen agers have attracted more attention than ever before. With emphasis placed on youth the world over, the teen age boys and girls have formed their own clubs, and have convened councils to advise stores and organizations on those things best suited to young people. The latest activity specially set aside for the teen agers will be given its first public showing, and hearing at the Masonic Temple on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week. It will be a two-night concert by the Edmonton Teen Age Choral Society, organized and conducted by Mrs. D. S. McEachern. Just about a year ago Mrs. McEachern, as a result of her contacts through training many young people in city choral groups, decided to organize a chorus of teen agers. She proceeded with preliminary work throughout the summer and by early autumn rehearsals were commenced. At first it was decided that it would be a mixed chorus. Later it was restricted to girls.

John Oliver

Throughout the winter rehearsals have been held and now, on the threshold of the initial concert, all is in readiness. The girls reportedly will appear in their newest and best evening gowns, plus flowers, and there will be lighting effects to accentuate the varied and changing moods of the works. Mrs. McEachern, who has trained several city choral groups, including the Edmonton Civic Opera Chorus for Noel Coward's operetta "Bitter Sweet" has expressed herself as being satisfied with the work of the girls and felt that they would give a good account of themselves. The program is scheduled to commence at 8:15 p.m. on both nights.

Another first concert by a newly formed chorus will take place at Central United Church at 8:15 p.m. Friday, March 14 when the Canadian National Recreation Association Glee Club will present a widely varied program. William Smith, popular Edmonton tenor, is the conductor and the accompanist is Peter Delicate. Soloists will be Mr. Smith, Thelma Rice, soprano, and W. J. Angus, baritone. Duets will be sung by Messrs Smith and Angus. An organ and piano duet will be played by Frances Kitchen and Mr. Delicate.

Egon Grapentin, violinist, with Mary Drummond at the piano, will be heard in several numbers. The glee club has been rehearsing assiduously since its organization last fall and with a good sprinkling of seasoned singers among many inexperienced but talented singers, there is every expectation of the concert being an unusually high standard.

First definite steps toward the completion of arrangements for next season's Celebrity Concert Series, sponsored by the Women's Musical Club will be taken tonight when Mrs. Ernest Meaden, manager of the series, walks on board the train bound for Winnipeg. While at the Manitoba capital, she will confer with Fred M. Gee, founder of the Celebrity Series, who co-operates with the Women's Musical Club in bringing the noted artists here. It is likely that she will come back with the names of the artists, the number of concerts, and data on such extras as there may be.

In the season concluded with the appearance at McDougall United Church last night of the Fisk Jubilee Singers, there were six regular and two added concerts. While no word has leaked out as to whether this number will be varied next season, it is likely to remain the same. Possibly it may be slightly increased. However, definite announcement must await until Mrs. Meaden's return. It was stated in this column last week that Mr. Gee's annual letter dealing with his New York trip to book the artists was being awaited with interest. As the amiable and ubiquitous impressario has returned to his stamping ground along Winnipeg's Portage avenue and Main Street, and still no letter, it would seem as though, for the present, he has gone out of the letter writing business. Too bad. His epistolary effusions always are welcome.

Probably there is a reason. As has been remarked here before, Mr. Gee is by way of being an accomplished pianist. To commemorate his 35th. anniversary as an impressario he is to appear on Monday, at Winnipeg, as soloist with the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra, playing MacDowell's piano concerto.

And as that opus is rather a difficult assignment even for an accomplished pianist, Mr. Gee no doubt, has been doing considerable "woodshedding"—as the musicians say—on the piece.

Now back to Mrs. Meaden. She will sit in on the Minneapolis orchestra's concert. Completing her conversations with Mr. Gee on next season's attractions here, she will go on to Toronto where she will visit her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Jones. After that she will head west again. Scheduled to return here about the middle of April she will apply herself toward preliminaries for the new series, with subscribers being given an opportunity, probably early in May to make their reservations for next season. Mrs. Sally Dalkin will accompany Mrs. Meaden to Winnipeg to represent the Musical Club executive at Mr. Gee's commemorative concert.

On March 1, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Brown, the Edmonton Music Forum, under the chairmanship of its president, Bernt Owren, gave a program of miscellaneous music. Orval Doney reviewed a recently published biography of Domenico Scarlatti. Other items on the program were: piano solos by Shirley Jackson, Nocturne in G Minor, Chopin; Love Song, Henselt; Fantasia in D Minor, Mozart; vocal solos by Tom Davies, bass, Marchog, Parry; The Blind Ploughman, Clark; Sing a Song of Sixpence, Diak; piano solos by Beulah Doney, Sonata in D Minor, opus 31, No. 2, first movement, Beethoven; flute solos by Harlan Green, Bouree and Sonata in B Flat, Scarlatti; vocal solos by Kathleen Clark, contralto, Early Morning, Peel; Orpheus and His Lute, Sullivan; Dream in the Twilight, Strauss.

Accompanists were Mrs. H. P. Brown, Della Anderson and Avenir Nizoff.

Under the baton of Mrs. Peter McSporran the Lyric Music and Dramatic Club will present the musical comedy "The Hurry-up Bride" by Larry E. Johnson, at the former American Red Cross Hut, 100 street, just south of CNR station, on March 24, 25 and 26. The story concerns Muldoon, an Irishman who has been elected mayor of his town and who wants his daughter Rose, to marry an English duke. But Rose and Harry Shannon, who are in love, arrange to have their wedding take place during what Muldoon fondly thinks, is a rehearsal for the wedding of Rose and the duke. How Muldoon is fooled in the rehearsal accounts for much of the comedy.

There are many solos, duets and concerted numbers in the show. Among the principals will be Tom Visser as Muldoon; Stewart Young as Hennessy; Roberta Welsh as Rose; Tony Biamonte as Harry Shannon; Ethel Dunn as Mildred; Lillian Chomiak as Mazie, Hennessy's daughter and Nick Christopher as the duke.

Officials of the Alberta Musical Festival Association report widespread interest in the 40th annual festival which will be held here May 19 to 24 inclusive. Just a reminder to prospective competitors: entries will not be accepted after April 20. It is interesting to note that there are 251 classes in the festival. There are 16 special awards including several scholarships, available in the course of the competitions.

One of the classic awards is the Stutchbury Cup. It is open to competition by winners of a gold medal, or equivalent certificate in a vocal solo class at a previous provincial festival. The present holder of the cup is Bernice McBeth, soprano, who is not expected to be here to defend it. The cup was donated by Howard Stutchbury, long-time Edmonton resident and one of the founders of the festival. He is president of the festival's provincial executive and chairman of the Edmonton branch.

ETHEL DUNN

TONY BIAMONTE

Above are two members of the Lyric Musical and Dramatic Club who will appear in the musical comedy "The Hurry-up Bride" at the former American Red Cross hut on March 24, 25 and 26. Miss Dunn, one of this city's best known contraltos will play the part of Mildred. Mr. Biamonte will portray the role of Harry Shannon.

Many Edmonton fathers, mothers and grandfathers and grandmothers will remember Mr. Stutchbury as a member of First Presbyterian Church choir, where his solos always were looked forward to with anticipation, and listened to with the greatest of pleasure. He remains active not only as an executive of the festival, but as a soloist. It is worthy of the record that he has sung Reginald de Koven's setting of Rudyard Kipling's Recessional at every Remembrance Day service sponsored by the Canadian Legion. To hear him sing this immortal song and to have heard him in It is Enough from "Elijah" are experiences one will not readily forget.

Egon Grapentin, Edmonton violinist appeared in recital at the Canadian Union college, Lacombe last Saturday and won the approval of a large audience. It was his fourth concert at the same place in four years. Mary Drummond was at the piano. The program included the Mendelssohn Violin Concerto; La Folia, Corelli-Kreisler; Slavonic Dances Nos. 1 and 11, Dvorak-Kreisler; Flight of the Bumble Bee, Rimsky-Korsakov-Heifetz; Sea Murmurs, Castelnuovo-Tedesco; Londonderry Air, arranged Kreisler; L Vida Breve, de Falla-Kreisler and Gypsy Airs, Sarasate.

Meetings of the Edmonton branch of the Alberta Music Teachers association will be held, in future, on the second Monday of each month at 9:15 p.m. in the public library. This time and place coincides with the meeting of the Allegro section of the association. At the last meeting, H. P. Brown showed two sound films. The next meeting will be March 10.

H. G. Turner, president of the Edmonton branch has returned from attending the dominion convention of music teachers' associations at Toronto and has reported to the branch on deliberations. He was elected vice-president of the provincial branch at the recent convention held at Medicine Hat.

Kesselring Admits Reprisal Killings

VENICE, Italy, (AP)—Field Marshal Albert Kesselring Friday accepted responsibility for ordering the 10-for-1 German reprisal massacre in the Ardeatine caves March 24, 1944, in which 335 Italian civilians died.

"The order was passed on by me," he told the British military court trying him for war crimes. "I accept the entire responsibility."

The court adjourned for an unspecified period after a doctor said Kesselring was "not in his normal state of health."

Monarch Arrives At Bloemfontein

BLOEMFONTEIN, South Africa, (Reuters)—Crowds which had begun to gather at dawn welcomed the royal family Friday to Bloemfontein, capital of the Orange Free State, in the country of the Voortrekkers (Boer pioneers).

Replying to an address of welcome from the administrator, Dr. S. P. Barnard, His Majesty the King referred to "your peaceful, happy province" adding:

"Here you live on land carved from the wilderness by your God-fearing forefathers, the Voortrekkers."

(The Dutch pioneers settled here after trekking from the Cape colony. Capetown is 771 miles away by road.)

There were seats for 300 in the council chamber, where the King spoke, but 30 of these were empty. Some members of the Nationalist party stayed away. Other seats were empty because guests were unable to get through the crowds.

Towers Director Of 'World' Bank

OTTAWA, (CP)—Graham Towers, governor of the Bank of Canada, has been elected executive director for Canada of the International bank, Finance Minister Abbott announced Thursday night.

In a statement accompanying the announcement, Mr. Abbott said Mr. Towers replaces R. B. Bryce, "who has resigned from that position at his own suggestion in order to make it possible for Mr. Towers to serve the bank in this capacity at this most important period in its operations."

Some time ago Mr. Towers was offered the presidency of the International bank, but declined it.

Germans Protest Border Changes

ROTTERDAM, The Netherlands, (ONA) — Germans are protesting against the proposal of the Netherlands government, as forwarded to the council of foreign ministers for its meeting in Moscow, that the frontier between this country and Germany be rectified, according to reports reaching here from Berlin.

German mayors and other authorities of the areas involved have filed a protest with the Allied occupation officials, it is stated. The protest is said to have asserted that the proposed annexation of German territory would be contrary to the wishes of the population involved and that "neither the course of the borderline nor its historic and cultural traditions justify the Dutch claims."

The protest concludes: "The border must be opened as soon as possible to allow the old neighborly relations between Holland and Germany to come to life again for the enduring benefit of both nations."

Soviet Farming Is Under Fire

MOSCOW, (AP)—Moscow newspapers gave seven-eighths of their space Friday to a report on Soviet agriculture which told of widespread embezzlement of land during the war and portrayed low yields in potatoes and pigs.

The report by A. A. Andreyev, the Soviet Union's leading agriculturist, was submitted last week to the Communist party's central committee.

Andreyev, a member of the politburo (executive body of the central Communist committee), gave this picture:

The potato yield "still is low and does not even reach the pre-war level."

There was a shortage of cows generally; 586 collective farms of 8,600 in the Kirov region had not a single cow in 1946.

Pig-breeding was the most backward of all forms of animal husbandry.

Andreyev cited figures to prove embezzlement of land had been widespread during the war.

A Good News Budget

With a "moderate overall surplus" in sight at the end of the present fiscal year and a prospective surplus of more than $11,000,000 at the end of next year, Premier Manning had the pleasant experience of bringing in a provincial budget yesterday which contained no bad news for the taxpayers.

The one new-tax item forecasts a levy of 2 cents per gallon on fuel oil used for other than agricultural purposes; but as this is to replace the Dominion tax of 3 cents per gallon there will be a net saving of one-third to the consumer.

Another tax adjustment, downward, is the cancellation of the Social Service tax, collected for many years by municipal councils and forwarded to the provincial treasury. This will leave the municipal authorities free to either cut their mill rates or extend services without imposing new taxation. As cancelling the tax will cost the province $1,500,000 per year in reduced revenue, the assistance accruing to the municipalities will be worth while.

It is expected that next year the provincial revenues will reach an all-time high mark of $46,000,000 or more. This will make possible a corresponding extension of public services and a continuance of the debt-reducng program.

This highly favorable financial outlook is due in good measure to the taxation agreement negotiated with the Dominion. Under this agreement the province will receive a minimum each year of $13,985,000, but the actual payment expected for 1947-48 is $14,840,000.

This sum is $6,640,000 more than the province now receives under the wartime agreement plus statutory subsidies and succession duties. It is $7,440,000 more than the province would collect by re-imposing pre-war rates of personal and corporation income taxes. It is $8,860,000 more than the province could obtain by imposing personal and corporation income taxes equal to the amounts which taxpayers could deduct from the corresponding Dominion levies.

The budget can be summarized as involving no new taxation while promising substantially increased expenditure on education, highways and other important branches of the public service and assuring a full year's contribution to the liquidation of the provincial debt. That will be good reading for the taxpayers.

Taxi Racketeering

It has been alleged in the city council that a racket has developed among some holders of taxicab licenses in Edmonton—that some few applicants for licenses have secured the right to operate taxicabs only for the purpose of turning these licenses over at a profit.

This reason, among others, had been advanced for the refusal to issue any more licenses to veteran applicants and to maintain the restriction to the present limit of 152.

It should be apparent to almost anyone that those who advance this argument have got the cart before the horse.

Limiting taxicab licenses does not prevent speculation in them. On the contrary, people are able to speculate in taxicab licenses only because they are limited.

The step to absolutely prevent such speculation is very simple. All the council has to do is to make those licenses non-transferable.

This remedy is so obvious that one begins to wonder about the obduracy with which the council pursues its policy of limitation.

Everyone knows that Edmonton could use a much larger number of taxicabs. Everyone knows that there is a sizeable list of veterans applications before the council which, if granted, would give this city an adequate taxicab service.

If there is any fear that any of these applicants propose to speculate in their licenses, nothing would be easier than to make them non-transferable.

The situation makes less sense as time goes on.

A Public Right

The Supreme Court of the United States laid down the law, finally, in respect to the refusal of Mr. Lewis and his miners to keep their contract with the Government. It upheld the conviction of the leader and the union for contempt of court. Mr. Lewis had to pay his $10,000 fine. He is given five days in which to withdraw his strike order. If he does so, the fine on the union will be reduced to $700,000. If he does not it will stand at the original $3,500,000 figure.

The practical effect is that the strike scheduled for April 1st. cannot be legally called until the contract expires, June 30th. This gives three months' added leeway in which a new contract may be negotiated, and the mines turned back to the private owners—which all parties want done. The offered reduction of the $3,500,000 fine to $700,000 is a pretty strong inducement to the miners' leader to get negotiations going.

Legally the verdict is a sweeping sanction to the use of court injunctions to prevent strikes against the Government. Which seems to mean that whenever the national authority takes over an industry, strikes will be taboo. Or, in other words, the Government can prevent the stalling of an important industry by taking it temporarily out of the hands of the private owners. That will have some bearing on how far Congress will think it necessary to go in the enactment of new Labor-control legislation.

The broad significance of the decision is that no man or group can defy the Government without incurring severe penalties, by stopping production of an essential commodity. Mr. Lewis openly challenged the right of the public to have coal except on his terms. The answer of the Supreme Court is clear. The public has this right, and the Government can enforce it. What goes for Mr. Lewis and his 400,000 miners goes also for every other person and group.

Moscow and After

The unexpected will happen if the Big Four foreign ministers draft a peace treaty with Germany before they wind up the Moscow conference which opens Monday. When General Marshall left Washington he was frankly doubtful of any such outcome. All he did hope for was the completion of a treaty with Austria.

If none of the other conferees has openly expressed doubts on the subject of a German treaty, none of them has said the contrary, which almost amounts to the same thing. And as the United States and Russia are most definitely opposed in their ideas, Mr. Marshall is well situated to know what the prospects are.

The deputy foreign ministers canvassed the situation for six weeks without even finding a starting point for the treaty-making operation. That leaves the chiefs where they were before the survey was made. Other than that Germany is not to be trusted and will need watching, there is no known basis of agreement from which they can proceed.

If this outlook is in any way discouraging, it is not wholly so. There could be such as thing as releasing Germany from military rule and restoring it to semi-self-government too soon. In fact the chief reason for speedy action is that Britain and the United States have got tired of the present state of affairs. Let nobody imagine the Nazis are not counting on their weariness as something which could be turned to advantage!

One thing the conference can and will do. It will bring out clearly the differences among the Big Four as to what the treaty should contain. These have been obscured, and perhaps exaggerated, by free-for-all discussions in which the responsible officials have been almost silent. When these differences have been brought down into precise terms, the Assembly of the United Nations will be in position to study them.

Perhaps the Moscow conference is more likely to result in the whole question being referred back to the Assembly than that anything else will come of it.

Science and Religion

Although experiments with the atom bomb are being conducted in the strictest secrecy, it is well known that weapons of an even more terrifying nature than those used at Hiroshima are being planned or even constructed.

If these unparalleled instruments of destruction are used to maintain the world's peace, their discovery and manufacture will be among the greatest blessings to mankind.

But if, on the other hand, they are used to promote conquest, or for purposes of greed and ambition, they might very well destroy civilization—and even the world.

It is to be observed that the fine line between blessing and curse, in this instance, is a line dependent upon the aims and purposes of men. In other words, the factor that will turn the atom bomb, among many other instruments of science, towards either construction or destruction, bring either peace or chaos, is the factor of human motives.

And since human motives are shaped out of religious convictions, the fate of the world and of civilization could very easily rest entirely upon the place religion occupies in the thoughts and lives of men.

There are very many more reasons for religous observance than the preservation of civilization or the world. But even on this basis, it should be quite apparent that religion, the Christian Faith, has taken on a new importance in the light of the great strides science has made in the past few years.

Only religion can provide a balance wheel that will keep humanity from destroying itself.

Only religion can make these discoveries of science a blessing and not a curse to men.

The Nova Scotia Coal Strike

BY ELMORE PHILPOTT

The Nova Scotia coal strike has now come to pass. The mines are shut. And the plain fact is, in this particular case, the striking miners are completely right. What they are asking is moderate and reasonable.

All Canadian coal miners are grossly underpaid as compared with miners in the U.S. But Nova Scotia coal miners have an added grievance—they get far less money than their fellow Canadian miners.

PHILPOTT

The Canadian War Labor Board already granted to western Canadian coal miners pay increases of $1.40 per day. Thus western Canadian coal miners are getting $2.25 per day more than the Nova Scotia miners.

Even if the Nova Scotia miners win their present demands in this strike—that is, for $1.40 per day, plus small welfare and pension contributions by the company—the miners will still be getting far less than western Canadian miners.

The company is right in one argument. That is, unless output per man per day increases, there is no way of getting the extra income to pay increases. But the United Mine Workers have presented imposing facts which indicate that the company itself is to blame for the poor record.

It is true that production has fallen from 2.4 tons per man per day in 1939 to 1.4 tons per man per day in 1946. But the ratio of key workers—that is, the actual loaders at the coal face—has fallen in about the same proportion to the total number employed below ground.

* * *

A CANADIAN government investigator shows that production per man per day in Nova Scotia is woefully below production per man per day in Pennsylvania. The Nova Scotia miners admit this—and it burns them up much more than it burns up any government investigator.

They say (to paraphrase Winston Churchill): "Give us the tools and we'll finish the job."

Particularly they want mechanical loaders such as their fellow miners use in the best mines in the U.S. They claim that they could double or even treble output per miner per day if equipped with the most modern equipment.

* * *

THE MINERS are adamant in their refusal to have their wages tied to output per man per day unless there are safeguards to compel the company to install the most modern machinery.

They claim—and I am convinced they are right—that the Dominion government's past policy of subsidizing coal production in the Nova Scotia mines was all wrong.

Under the cost-plus-profit system there was no pressure on the management to run the mines efficiently.

The miners say: If the national treasury of Canada is to provide future subsidies for N.S. mines, let there be ironclad safeguards to modernize the machinery.

* * *

I WILL NEVER forget the late Canon Scott's description of his visit to Glace Bay. Even now, in that centre of Nova Scotia coal production, there is only one short paved street.

There are no parks, no playgrounds, no sidewalks.

There is no public health nurse—and only one doctor per 2,000 people (though one per 1,000 is everywhere considered the bare minimum). There are no kindergartens—not a single library in all Cape Breton.

Thirty-five per cent of the dismal homes have no toilets. Sixty per cent have no bathrooms. Eighty-two per cent have no furnaces.

As many mothers would rather have their sons die than work there—the average age of the miners is getting older and older. Eight per cent are over 64 years. As there is no proper pension fund, over-age men actually have to wait for someone to die to get on the makeshift handout. Hence there are many men over seventy years of age working in Nova Scotia mines—where the average pay of the miners in all ten years before the war was $90 per month, and where the basic pay, right now, is $5.84 per day.

The Great Crisis

BY DOROTHY THOMPSON

It is now clear what lay behind General Marshall's solemn warning in his speech at Princeton university regarding the gravity of a crisis greater in many ways than that of the war.

When great powers pass out of history, they do not do so unobtrusively. The reverberations of their passing echo for decades or generations, sometimes for centuries. In more reasonable epochs the common sense of nations recognized this. Even in war, the belligerents tried to save and restore the enemy state lest its final collapse should bring down more. But we no longer live in the age of reason; the presiding spirit is not Apollo, but Dionysius. Our actions are occasioned and influenced by passion, the clamor of interests and the most reckless disregard for the lessons of history—or geography, or reality.

THOMPSON

* * *

THE TOTAL collapse and loss of sovereignty in Germany and Japan was the goal fought for; the meaning of "unconditional surrender." There were those who trembled at the prospect of the aftermath of such an unlimited victory fought by a coalition of powers with by no means identical interests. Some foresight—and more hindsight of history—would have told us that such a victory is also a catastrophe, entailing a burden of gigantic proportions. In the case of Germany, it demanded a Solomon's judgment between the contenders for the remains.

But the processes of war are not reversible, and the totality of modern war eclipses the mind.

At the beginning of the war, there were five major world powers and many medium-sized and smaller states living relatively independent lives and exercising a certain cushioning and shock-absorbing effect. At the end of hostilities, there were the Big Three. Now, when the "peace" conference assembles in Moscow, there will be only the Big Two. For in the last weeks, the British Empire has taken a curtain call—in India, the Middle East, and now in Greece. So the reverberations mount as Kipling's recessional sounds its prophetic warning.

* * *

WHEN BRITAIN took over India, following the collapse—from its own inner weakness—of the Mogul Empire, which rested chiefly on the Indian Moslems, India was in chaos. When Britain withdraws, she will return to chaos. Americans still find it difficult to believe in irreconcilable conflicts, but the interests of Moslems and Hindus will—I am sure—seek solution, not through compromise but through terror and blood.

Nothing had wider acclaim in England among all parties than the decision to withdraw from Palestine. Britain's rule in Palestine has been a ghastly failure. But Britain has often admitted failures. Here, there is widespread hope that British withdrawal will solve the Palestinian issue, but I see not the slightest foundation for that hope. There are two sides in Palestine, each with absolute conviction of the rightness and justice of its case, and each imbued with the utmost fanaticism. The fight of the one is presently against the British, but that is not the ultimate struggle.

The British are presently withdrawing from Greece and ask the U.S. to pick up the ball in the Mediterranean. In Greece, a wobbly government in a bankrupt country is contending with forces whose interest and support are by no means merely domestic. Greece is the missing link in the Soviet-sponsored Communist Danubian-Balkan federation. If they win in Greece, Turkey is gone, and with it international control of the Dardanelles.

* * *

IT IS HIGH time that the United States began to think with the utmost sobriety of its international commitments, its capacity to discharge them, the effect upon its own society of attempting to enlarge them, and the probable outcome.

Intervention breeds counter-intervention, and counter interventions ultimately mean war. If Soviet intervention is invited by chaos in India and the Middle East, it will be in support of the Moslems. There are no Hindus in the Soviet Union and no Zionists. There are, however, 18,000,000 Moslems among whom Janizaries have been trained, as Western and Southern Slavs were trained. The world of 200,000,000 Moslems will not be abandoned by the Soviets to the Hindus with their caste system or the Palestinian Jews. Zionism is barred, not only in the Soviet Union but in all the new satellite states.

* * *

MUTUAL intervention seems certain to invite a clash. And before the United States goes one step farther it had better consider what it has to intervene with and what for. I do not think it has yet asked itself that question and answered it positively about any area where its wealth and manpower are flowing. But the situation today is beyond further solution by impulsiveness, missionaryism, or passion. The country needs a thoroughgoing stocktaking—and to remind itself of all the fools who have rushed in where angels—or wise men—feared to tread.

Palestine

New York Herald Tribune

Berating Mr. Bevin will not advance a Palestine solution. There will be plenty of voices to tell him angrily that he was by no means so near a settlement last October as he now believes; but how many will also realize the truth that mere pressure from this country (whether exerted by the President, by other politicians or by American Jewry) cannot settle anything, either, until it is backed by a national willingness to take corresponding responsibility?

Last October this newspaper thought, and said, that it was "questionable whether Mr. Truman has contributed to a speedy settlement" or even to getting the increased immigration which he demanded; and events have at least proved that estimate correct.

The issue is now passing from Britain to the United Nations. But UN will be as helpless as the British unless this country can be brought to an agreement, not simply on words, but on a policy which Administration, Congress and the people will support

The Veteran Preference

By HARPER PROWSE, MLA

It is interesting to note that the parliamentary committee on veterans' affairs is to be set up again during this session of the House of Commons for the purpose of inquiring into the question of veteran preference in civil service positions. Date for the commencement of hearings of the committee has not yet been set, but its deliberations and decisions will be of the greatest importance to not only ex-servicemen but the country as a whole.

At the present time veterans' preference is extended to only two classes—those in receipt of pensions for disabilities which make it impossible for them to follow their pre-war occupations, and those with overseas service. Other service is not recognized as a reason for special consideration by the civil service commission. The way the preference works is this—all applicants are examined and those who qualify are then put on the eligible list. The list is divided into three categories. Top category goes to pensioners, second to men with overseas service, and third to other successful applicants.

* * *

IT HAS BEEN suggested in some quarters that instead of the outright preference as it now exists the preference should be granted on a mark-bonus basis on their examinations.

Under the mark-bonus system pensioners were to be granted the largest bonus, let us say for the purpose of illustration, 20 per cent, and the overseas veterans 10 per cent. Then all applicants would write the examinations. In drawing up the merit list pensioners would add 20 per cent to their marks and overseas vets 10 per cent. The objection which has been made to this is that the mark bonus might bring unqualified men over the pass mark. As it is at present only qualified men can get on the lists and then preference goes to the vets.

The other factor which will have to be considered is the question of what degree of preference, if any, will be given to men who did not serve overseas. At the present as far as the civil service is concerned these men might just as well not have been in the army at all. In a great many cases this works an injustice, for there were many men who were prevented from going overseas because thy were considered indispenable in their jobs here. While most people agree the overseas man should have a preference they do believe that at least a third degree of preference should be established to give a break to the "Canada-only" men.

* * *

THEN, TOO, a commission inquiring into the whole question of the civil service recommended against the blanket veterans' preference as it now exists on the basis that others should be given at least a chance. This is another question the committee will have to deal with. As all these questions are highly controversial the committee should have some interesting discussions.

Codifying Civil Rights

BY J. H. GRAY

Ottawa. One of the healthy signs in our democracy has been the greatest resurgence of interest in civil liberties since the end of the war. During the war Canadians lived rather uneasily in an atmosphere of arbitrary rules and regulations. They recognized that many of these restrictions were necessary for the prosecution of the war. But they did not like them, nonetheless.

The end of the war was a signal for a drive not only to have full liberty of the citizens restored, but for some better method of guaranteeing the retention of these liberties through the years to come. The agitation has crystallized in a widespread demand for "A Canadian Bill of Rights."

* * *

CURIOUSLY enough, the various celebrated causes which furthered the agitation for a Bill of Rights have tended, somehow, to becloud the picture. Because the espionage cases attracted national attention, some people have concentrated all their attention on the infringement of liberty by the national government. But some of the most serious threats of civil liberties have come from the provinces, even from municipalities. Thus, any approach to a bill of rights must take in the provincial governments as well as the Dominion government.

But if the discussion of civil liberties and a bill of rights is to be productive of ultimate good, two essential preliminary steps must be taken. We must decide what we want in the way of a bill of rights; and we must find and agree on a way to get it.

The fundamental freedoms are generally agreed upon. It should be the right of a Canadian citizen to enjoy the maximum possible measure of freedom of speech. It ought to be the right of every Canadian to enjoy the maximum possible measure of freedom of religion. The press of Canada should be free to report the news fairly and free to comment upon it. Every citizen should enjoy equality before the law. The rights of all citizens to a fair trial by the courts of the land must be retained. Habeas corpus, the production of any one accused of any crime in court by the police must be safeguarded.

* * *

IT CAN BE said, of course, that Canadians generally have seldom had cause to complain against the infringements of any of these rights. But there have been enough violations of these rights to create uneasiness from which springs the agitation for a bill of rights.

There are, however, other fundamental rights, or rights which should be fundamental, which have been seriously restricted.

It should be the right of every adult Canadian citizen to vote for the election of his representatives, not only in our parliament but in our legislatures, city councils and school boards. Yet thousands of Canadians are denied these rights. Specifically, they are denied the right to vote in municipal, provincial or federal elections in British Columbia.

* * *

IT OUGHT to be the right of a Canadian citizen to move freely about his country and earn his living where he choses. But in most of the provinces many of the trades and professions are closed to Canadians coming from other provinces. Some are closed by means of excessive fees demanded for admission to closed shop "professional societies" incorporated under provincial law. Others are closed by means of regulation of these societies.

In these, and in many other fields, there is a growing tendency in provincial practice to hive off from the courts more and more fields of enterprise and endeavor. In these cases a citizen who feels that any of his rights are being infringed is barred from taking his case to the courts. In almost every province there are regulatory boards with judicial powers, whose edicts have all the force of law.

* * *

SO THE QUESTION which is posed for Canadians in regard to a bill of rights is this: How far do you want to go? If we are prepared to settle for a minimum, the difficulties may not be insuperable. But if we want to codify our liberties into a real bill of rights that will become the law of the land some very serious difficulties may be encountered.

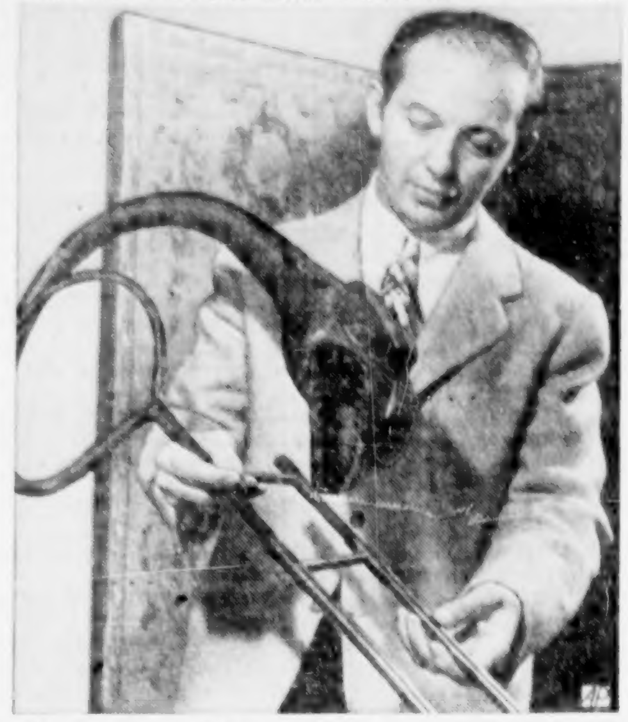
Old Horn Looks Like Some Music Sounds



This rare old horn looks as fantastic as some "hot" music sounds. It is being displayed by Jascha Veissi, viola virtuoso whose hobby is collecting antique musical instruments. The horn, made in Italy, is believed to date from the early 19th century.

Boy's 25-Cent Gift Boosts Police Fund

VANCOUVER, (CP) — Although cheques up to $500 have been received by police for a fund for the two families of Officers Ledingham and Boyes, slain last week in a gun-battle with bandits here, the most heart-warming donation was 25 cents from a boy in Ashcroft, B.C.

It came enclosed with a letter. The letter read:

Dear Sir: I have heard my dad talk about the two police being killed. And I would like to give my week's allowance to the fund. Neil Knowlton.

P.S.: I am sorry I spent last week's.

The boy got a prompt letter of thanks from Police Chief Walter Mulligan.

Contributions to the fund now total $15,680.

Farm Strike Cause Of Butter Shortage

Delayed reaction of the Alberta Farmers' Union last fall Friday was claimed as one reason for a butter shortage in Vancouver, and some parts of the prairie provinces.

Officials of the Western Canada Produce association said in Vancouver about 250,000 pounds of butter was being shipped west from eastern Canada to relieve the shortage. In Edmonton, a dairy official claimed there was no serious threat of a butter shortage but "the situation is tight."

Athens, Greece learns that 14 nations thus far have approved the new World Calendar, which its sponsors hope to introduce in 1950 to supplant the Gregorian Calendar now in use.

2 Vice-Presidents Suggested in U.S.

WASHINGTON, (AP) — Senator Henry Lodge, Rep. Mass., suggested to the senate rules committee Friday that the threat of atomic warfare may make it necessary for the United States to elect two vice-presidents and keep one of them out of Washington.

Lodge told his committee colleagues in a hearing on presidential succession bills that the possibility that Washington would face lightning attack in the next war cannot be ignored.

Baghdad, Iraq, is to have a new, modern, 100-bed maternity home.

Will Ask Grant For B.C. Research

VICTORIA, (CP) — Approval of a $160,000 grant for the British Columbia research council will be sought in the provincial legislature during the present session, Trade and Industry Minister Leslie H. Eyres announced in the house Thursday.

In a review of the work performed by the council last year, Mr. Eyres said that 1,518 companies with a total capitalization of $99,759,309 were incorporated in the province during 1946, including 547 for industrial purposes.

Sunday Services in Edmonton Churches

Service at Dreamland

The Sunday evening service of the Beulah Tabernacle will be held this week in the Dreamland theatre. The special speaker will be the Rev. Stacey Woods, youth speaker who comes to Edmonton for this service as the Canadian secretary of the Inter-Varsity Christian Fellowship. His message will be vital. In the absence of the pastor-evangelist of the Tabernacle, the Rev. J. D. Carlson, who preaches this Sunday in special services in Vancouver, the Rev. Ralph Williams will direct the service. In the morning service at 11:30 in the tabernacle, Mr. Williams will be heard preaching on this theme—"Faith in the Living God."

ANNOUNCES: The Rev. Harold Allcock, pastor of the Apostolic Lighthouse, corner 97 street and 101A avenue, who announced Saturday that the Rev. and Mrs. R. Greenway, talented musicians, will preach and sing Sunday at 11:15 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Throughout the coming week, commencing at 8:00 p.m., except Saturday, they will also conduct special services at the Lighthouse. Mrs. Greenway plays the piano and the Irish harp and Mr. Greenway the violin and theremin.

GEMS FROM SWEDENBORG:

"Those, who love truth for its own sake and for the sake of a life in accordance with it—consequently for the sake of the Lord's Kingdom, study the Word with this motive alone and derive from it their faith and their conscience. If they are told that they must remain in the doctrines of the Church in which they were born, they reflect that, if they had been brought up in any heresy or even outside the Church altogether the same admonition would have been given them; for it is the general cry—"Here is the Church: here are truths—and nowhere else!" And this being so, they conclude that the Word ought to be studied with devout prayer to the Lord for enlightenment. Such persons do not disturb anyone else in the Church and never condemn those who believe otherwise than they, knowing that everyone who is in a Church lives from his own faith."
—True Christian Religion.

Swedenborg's writings are available in every public library. Out-of-town readers may get copies from University Extension Library. For information Phone 26062.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

The Gift of Love

It was college commencement day. As the tall, handsome student, the head of his class, stepped forward to receive his diploma, hundreds of eyes watched him with open admiration. But the young man saw only a smiling middle-aged man and woman who sat quietly aloof, remembering . . .

They had come, a childless couple, to the orphanage to adopt a baby. Did they want a boy or girl? It didn't matter. What they did want, however, was to adopt the least attractive child in the home.

The superintendent plainly showed her surprise. "We have one baby boy whom nobody seems to take an interest in. I suppose you would call him the homeliest little creature here. And perhaps the puniest, too . . ."

"Never mind," smiled the young wife. "He's the little one we want. When can we have him?"

"We have to make a thorough investigation, of course, but I'm sure there won't be any difficulty. But tell me, why do you insist on having the least wanted child?"

Again the wife answered. "Because we believe every child has a right to love. We want this child because no one else wants him. We'll give him love and understanding, and we know the child will be happy in us and we in him. With God's help, we'll make him strong in body and good in soul. That will be our reward."

. . . And when the commencement was over, and the crowd began to melt through the doors of the great auditorium, the young graduate came down to link arms with the waiting man and woman. They seemed an ordinary, happy family, laughing and joking as they walked into the bright sunlight outside. But each mind was tender with memories of love richly shared. And each heart gave silent thanks to the Unseen Presence who went with them.

Christian Science

The subject to be expounded in Christian Science churches on Sunday is "Man." Here are significant passages from the Lesson-Sermon: "As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness." (Psalms 17:15). "Man. The compound idea of infinite Spirit; the spiritual image and likeness of God; the full representation of Mind." (Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, p. 591).

To effect a striking improvement in the appearance of a house, at small epense, no better way can be found than to decorate it with window boxes full of flowers.

In congested city locations no less than in garden suburbs, window boxes can be used to grow beautiful flowers and when they are planned to harmonize with the house, and accent its good points, they will delight the owners as well as all who pass.

Think of them as a decoration of the house; make them of a suitable size and a color to match the house color or trim. The flowers should be chosen to furnish a contrasting, yet harmonious color accent. There is a wealth of suitable varieties from which to choose.

Construction of the boxes is simple and can be done this winter. The diagram which accompanies this article shows how to build them. For a standard single window, a box 3½ feet long, 8 inches deep and 10 inches wide is a good size. But measure your windows and make boxes to fit.

Rich soil, of the types which florists call potting soil, must be used for window boxes. Because there is so little of it to feed the flowers, it should be well fertilized. A table spoonful of chemical plant food for each square foot of soil should be used.

Clerk Outlasts 45 of Ministers

SHOPIERE, Wis., (BUP)—Frank J. Dole, Shopiere bachelor, has come to know the activities of the Congregational Church here pretty well.

He should, for recently he was re-elected clerk of the church for the 62nd consecutive year.

The 94-year-old resident has seen 45 pastors come and go. Dole's first recollection of a church pastor to come when he met the Rev. H. H. Pullen in 1868. Dole was then only 15 years old.

Regarding his recent election, Dole admitted that "perhaps the members have become so used to me they won't vote for anyone else"

THE Newest ADDITION TO THE WEYERHAEUSER
4-SQUARE HOME BUILDING SERVICE

● This new, modern home is designed on the solar principle. Wide windows on the south welcome the low-angled warming winter sun, while the overhanging roof screens out the midday sun during the heat of summer. In this design you have a home that helps you to live more comfortably with each of nature's changing seasons. The sweeping outdoor view is always desirable—particularly since the solar principle of the design makes this feature entirely practical.

The Solar Home is one of many very interesting additions to the ever-growing Weyerhaeuser 4-Square Home Building Service. There are scores of other outstanding designs in this service. Each month a new design is added.

If you plan to build, it will pay you to study and use this complete service at our office. Feel free to come in anytime.

Plan Big Parade At Tuxis—CGIT Roundup

By Helen Ferris

A parade featuring 1,000 young people and dozens of colorful floats led by the Edmonton Schoolboys Band, will launch the Tuxis — CGIT "Spring Roundup" to be held here May 16, 17 and 18.

This was announced in a recent interview with the Rev. Stewart D. Trites, chairman of the Edmonton district boys' work board and of the "steering committee" which is guiding the projtct.

THE OBJECT of the roundup, being sponsored by the Edmonton and district Boys and Girls Work Boards and the children's work board, will be two-fold: To publicize the Tuxis-CGIT movements, and to provide a climax to the year's work in Tuxis, Trail Ranger, CGIT and Explorer groups. The entire roundup program — parade, concert and special devotional services — will emphasize the physical, social, intellectual and spiritual development of these groups.

THE REV. S. D. TRITES

According to present plans under the direction of Harold Fazackerley and Lorne Calhoun, the opening parade will proceed along Jasper avenue and 127 street to Westglen high school, where a lively variety concert will be presented under the chairmanship of Russ Hamilton. It will consist of selections by the band, gymnastic displays of various groups directed by James Reid; short skits, folk and tap dancing, verse speaking, and choral singing directed by Al Burden. There may also be vocal and instrumental solos.

PRIZES IN the form of camp scholarships will be awarded by the various boards for the floats which best symbolize the aims and purposes of the Tuxis-CGIT movements.

The boys will use their share of the concert proceeds to buy a site for a cabin, though the location has not yet been decided upon.

THE BOYS national athletic contests will be held in Clarke Stadium on Saturday afternoon, featuring high jumping, broad jumping, disc throwing, potato and relay races. The group whose members score the highest total in these five events will receive the Harold Fazackerley shield, and the boy whose solo effort is the highest will win a silver cup. In 1945, the first year the trophy was offered, McDonald Baptist Trail Rangers won it. Last year, Phil Brown's Garneau Trail Rangers won it, and Les Anthony of the same group won the cup.

While the boys are competing in these events, the CGIT girls will enjoy their annual "day at camp," which is just like the real thing held in a city park.

SUNDAY MORNING, the young people will attend worship services in various city churches. In the afternoon they will parade as a group past the cenotaph, where they will lay a wreath, and proceed to the Legislative Building to attend an impressive service there. The junior Salvation Army Band, directed by Al Burden, will provide the music.

There will be 250 Tuxis and Trail Ranger boys, 400 CGIT girls, 300 boy and girl Explorers, and the leaders of all these groups participating in the roundup and representing the major Protestant denominations. It is expected that there will be many out-of-town groups from Clover Bar, Fort Saskatchewan, Red Deer, Vegreville and Spruce Grove. Phil Brown is in charge of publicity.

Young People's Column

Miss Margaret Clark, YWCA delegate to the Oslo Youth Conference, will be guest speaker at the "Interdenom" meeting held in the First Baptist church at 8 p.m. Monday, March 10. It is expected that 30-35 members of the central IYPU executives will be present, representing many denominations.

* * *

The missions committee of Knox United church YPU will sponsor an "all-Indian night" tomorrow. Members will play Indian games and eat Indian food.

Those in charge of games and refreshments are Jimmy Carlyle, Esther Boettcher, Tommy Ruskin, and Helen Huston; devotional Bernice Sinson and Jack Saunders.

* * *

Commencing Thursday, March 13, the Chi Rho Fellowship of All Saints Cathedral will hear a series of lectures by well-known authorities on social service and juvenile delinquency problems. Meetings will be held at 8:30 p.m. on the second and fourth Thursday of each month in the parish hall under the sponsorship of the AYPA. The first speaker will be Mrs. Pat Macrae Fulton, a graduate of the British Columbia School of Social Work, who is in Edmonton in connection with the Alberta Welfare Study of the IODE. Her subject will be "Unmarried Parenthood and Its Associated Problems."

Membership in the Chi Rho Fellowship is open to all persons between the ages of 23 and 40. Granted the first Chi Rho charter in Alberta, the group at All Saints was organized early in 1946 and now has more than 40 members. Its varied program includes study, service and recreation, and its recently elected executive is sparing no effort to make the 1947 season a success in this regard. The general theme of this new program will include a study of social service problems, and service projects undertaken will follow the lead of subjects under discussion. Numerous social and recreation periods are also planned.

* * *

At a meeting of the Edmonton Boy's Work Board Monday night, summer camps, "Spring Roundup" and Trail Ranger uniforms were discussed. Mr. R. J. Gillies of Garneau United Church was appointed to form a camp committee.

Board members felt that each church should be able to sponsor at least one float in the parade of the forthcoming Tuxis - CGIT "Spring Roundup".

The annual Provincial Boy's Work Board meeting is being held in Calgary today and tomorrow.

* * *

Members of the Experimental Group of the Edmonton CGIT were guests at Wesley United church Tuesday evening. These 12 girls under the leadership of Lois Neilson visit various churches to give girl's groups new ideas for active programs and projects.

Joan Campbell opened the program by leading new games that may be played at any kind of a gathering. Irene Kidney led a sing-song, and Mary Miller made the announcements. Following this, Carl Souch gave an interesting talk on projects that stimulated many new ideas in handicrafts.

In closing, Joan Campbell, Evelyn Ritchie and Carol Souch conducted an inspiring vesper service entitled "The Parable." '

Contributions to this column should be received by mail or telephone not later than Wednesday by Miss Helen Ferris, 10539 126 street, Edmonton. Telephone 82713. We'd like to hear from more out-of-town groups, please!

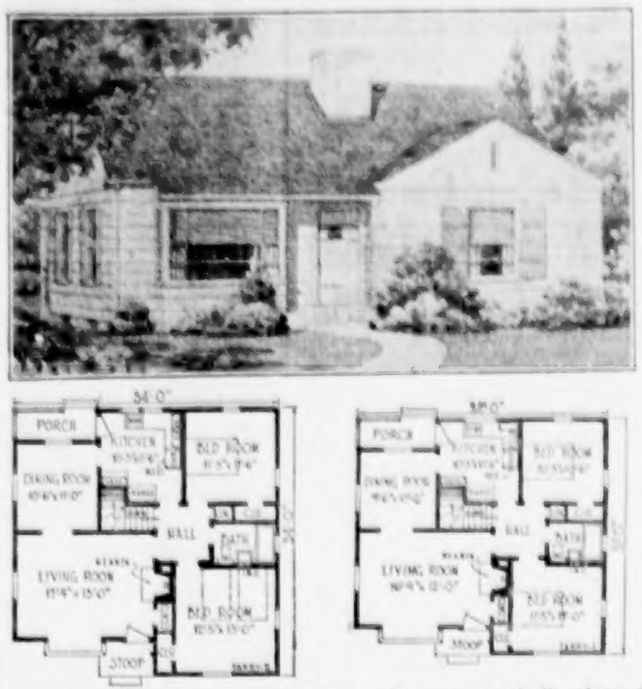
Small Homes of Originality



"The TARRY" is a compact five room home, economically planned and modern in design. The centrally located hall which provides access to the essential rooms is most desireable and convenient. Featured here is the large living room amply lighted by the modern picture bay window.

This is but one of the forty-six small homes portrayed in our new building guide "Small Homes of Originality." Duplicate floor plans are offered with each exterior and there are detailed drawings of fireplaces, cupboards and other interior suggestions.

A copy of this new book can be obtained at the office of The Edmonton Bulletin, or will be mailed to you postpaid, for $1.00 per copy.

EDDIE CUTTS CALLED UP AFTER FEB. 10 DEADLINE

NEW YORK, March 8 -(CP)- President Maurice Podoloff of the American Hockey League last night said that he did not believe the calling up of rookie defenceman Eddie Cutts by Toronto's Maple Leafs from the Pittsburgh AHL club would creat any serious breach between the ruling bodies of major and minor league hockey.

Podoloff was inclined to blame only the Toronto and Pittsburgh clubs for violating the Feb. 10 deadline "understanding" for the transfer of players. He would not say whether Cutts would be suspended or whether the nine other AHL clubs would decide to impose a heavy fine on the Hornets for releasing the rookie.

THE BLOND YOUNGSTER FROM Edmonton was recalled to fill a gaping hole in the Leafs' defence after Wally Stanowski joined two other Toronto backliners on the sidelines with a knee injury which doctors said would keep him out of action for six weeks. Bob Goldham and Garth Boesch are the other ailing rearguards.

The minor league head said that under ordinary circumstances Cutts would be suspended immediately "but the AHL board of governors may decide differently."

Podoloff added that he didn't know exactly what action will be taken against Pittsburgh. "I'll cross that bridge when I come to it," he said in an interview.

THE FORMAL AGREEMENT BINDING both leagues to end loaning of players after Feb. 10 expired in the spring of 1945, Podoloff declared, but since then other rules of the agreement including loans of players and mutual respect of suspension have been adhered to.

Podoloff expressed belief that if the AHL governors should suspend Cutts the rookie could not play in the NHL since until now each circuit has honored the other's suspensions.

Canadians Cop Junior B Title

BLAIRMORE, March 8 -(CP)- Edmonton Canadians won the Jack Moss trophy and Alberta junior "B" championship last night when they soundly trounced the Blairmore Columbus Club 10-4 before a capacity crowd. The northerners made it two straight games, winning here Thursday night 8-5.

Don Ringrose and Glen Bjarnason paced the Canadians to their victory last night, Bjarnason scoring four times and assisting in two others and Ringrose scoring twice and helping in four more. Ken Bradshaw with two, Gordon Pearce and Doug McClocklin netted the other Edmonton counters. Serlak with two, Lant and Cerny tallied for Blairmore.

Canadians took a 2-0 lead in the first period and increased it to 4-0 before Blairmore could score in the second. Both clubs added one more before the second frame ended, making it 5-2 and then the Canadians rifled in five more while holding the southern champs to a pair in the third.

Cricket Mishaps Kill Two Players

SYDNEY, March 8 -(CP)- Cricket is getting tougher these days.

Within a two-week period two players were killed in minor Sydney games and two of England's players in the test matches were knocked out.

Nelson Joseph Flynn, 26-year-old street car company employee, was killed by a ball that struck him under the heart in a suburban game. Six-year-old Peter Accurao died after a ball struck his chest.

England's star batter, Len Hutton of Yorkshire, playing against New South Wales recently, 'misjudged a ball bowled by Ginty Lush and was hit on the chin. Two stitches were taken in his jaw in hospital.

In the same fray, Englishman Bill Edrich was struck over the heart by a ball and knocked out. He was able to continue play after being revived.

Toilers Capture Northern Junior Basketball Title

Alberta University's Golden Bears took a small step in the direction of the provincial senior men's basketball championship last night when they weaved and shot their way to a 50-44 victory over Calgary's Detroit Bears in the opening match of their two-game, total-point semi-final series, at the University Drill Hall.

In the preliminary contest Toilers tucked away the northern Alberta junior men's championship by smothering South Side Teens under a 55-29 count. It was the second straight win for the Toilers in the three-game series.

GOLDEN BEARS played aggressive basketball throughout the entire game and after assuming an 11-3 lead in the first quarter, were never behind. They outscored the Calgarians 14-11 in the second, the third was even at 14-14. They had an 11-10 edge in the fourth.

The Calgarians had no particular excuses after the contest, but a few suggested that perhaps the big floor confused them on their passes. They played a long-passing game and many of them were intercepted by the opposition. Both clubs played a hard-checking type of game and fouls came thick and fast. The Calgary boys were the worst offenders with 18, while the Students had one less.

BILL PRICE was the Varsity scoring ace with 13 points, but was closely followed by Bill Rich and Jim Macrae, who collected 11 apiece. Bill Burrows set a terrific pace for the visitors, garnering 15, while Bob Morton slipped the leather through the hoop for 10.

Second game of the series will be played at the Drill Hall today, commencing at 2 o'clock.

TOILERS got away to a flying start in the junior clash and when the first period ended they held a 24-11 lead. They held a wide margin in the floor play, but the South Siders didn't get many breaks around the hoop.

John McDiarmid set the pace for the winners, looping 11 points, with Guy Cubitt a close second with 10. Norm Kimball was the only member of the Teens who had his scoring eye in the groove. He counted 15 points while Higgen and Chebry, with six apiece, and Johannsen, two, were the only other South Side marksmen.

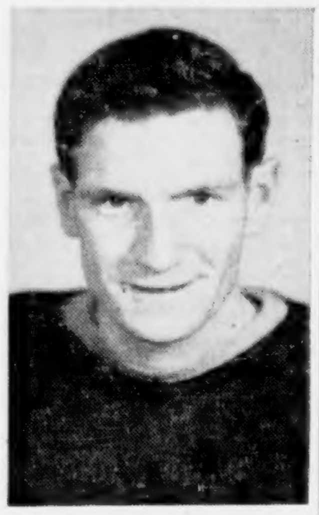
THE ACROBATIC MR. LUMLEY!—Harry Lumley, youthful Detroit net guardian, pulled numerous stunts such as depicted here to frustrate Toronto attackers in last Saturday night's NHL encounter at Maple Leaf Gardens. Lumley sprawls on his back far out of the goal, with the puck still in the air after blocking a shot from Sid Smith (22). Howie Meeker, extreme left, waits for a pass that never came, while defenceman Doug McCaig guards the open net. Billy Taylor is immediately behind Lumley. Detroit won, 5-4.



PLAYS TONIGHT: Harry Allen, high scoring centre for New Method, northern Alberta intermediate hockey champions, will be in action at the Arena tonight when the Edmonton sextet meets Coleman Grands in the first game of the provincial final. Harry scored one goal and set up four others in the last game the New Methods played at the Arena.

Cum Laude Sets Santa Anita Mark

LOS ANGELES, March 8 -(CP)- Cum Laude, lightly regarded 6-year-old from the L. H. Appleby Stable of Vancouver broke a track record and humbled several erstwhile stake stars in capturing the $10,000 Lake Arrowhead handicap at Santa Anita Park Friday.

Leaving the favored Stitch Again second in the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap last Saturday, to run out of the money, and the vaunted Texas Sandman and El Lobo behind, Cum Laude won the race from wire to wire.

He negotiated the mile and one eighth in 1:48 3-5, breaking the track record of 1:48 4-5 set by Seabiscuit on March 6, 1937.

Z. T. Addington's Cover Up finished second, two lengths behind Cum Laude, with the Sandman third.

The winner, ridden by Jockey Gene Pederson, paid $28.60, $13.30 and $6.80; Cover Up $12.60 and $6.80, and Texas Sandman $3.95.

A turnout of 38,500 fans wagered $2,980,408 on the eight races.

Capitols to Play Barrhead Sunday

Trail Juniors Tie Alberta-B.C. Final

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., March 8 -(CP)- Trail Smoke Eaters trounced Lethbridge Native Sons 9-4 last night to tie the best-of-five inter-provincial junior hockey final series up at one game apiece. Native Sons won the first game of the Alberta-British Columbia series 6-5 here Wednesday. Subsequent games will be played at Lethbridge.

The Smokies were never headed. They led 2-1 at the end of the first period and 6-2 at the end of the second, and outskated Native Sons throughout. For the Sons, it was their first defeat on home ice in more than 20 games this year.

Lethbridge threatened seriously only once, when they brought the score to 6-4 in the third period by notching two goals within 23 seconds.

ARCHIE SCOTT, with four goals, led the Smoke Eaters and was the outstanding player of the night. Other Trail scorers were Don Berry, with two; Len Senecco, Dennie Barkley and Claude Bell, with one apiece.

Ken Simpson scored two goals for Lethbridge and Fred Brown and Bill Ramsden with one each.

Smokies went ahead at 5:04 of the first on Secco's breakaway goal. The Sons tied it up fewer than two minutes later, Brown combining wtih Gibson to score. The tie was short-lived, Trail scoring again seven minutes later, when Berry poked the rubber home after splitting the Lethbridge defence.

PLAY WAS close early in the second, but Bob McNabb, Smokies' netminder, proved invincible. Trail went ahead 3-1 when Scott sent a high one past Rody Rodzinyak from 20 feet out. Simpson scored from a scramble 40 seconds later to make the count 3-2.

Then Smokies turned on the power, scoring three goals—two of them on breakaways—while they were a man short.

Native Sons roared back in the third, whipping in two quick goals as the crowd went wild. They continued to press, but McNabb pulled off two sparkling saves and gave his mates time to recover their bearings.

WITH LETHBRIDGE continuing to play five men up Scott scored his third goal and gave Trail a 7-4 lead. At 16:36 Barkley scored on Berry's pass-out from behind the net, and 24 seconds later Scott scored his fourth and last goal of the game by breaking away from a Lethbridge ganging attack and skating in on Rodzinyak alone.

TRAIL — McNabb; Mondin, Bell; Scott; Cook, Secco. Subs—Pasquaiotti, Malley, Pebbles, Ircandia, Barkley, Hildebrand, Berry.

LETHBRIDGE—Rodzinyak; Lavell, Murphy; Gibson; Brown, Stasiuk. Subs—Ramsden, Lowe, Simpson, Holmes, McLean, Dorohoy, Whitehead.

White Sox Expect To Continue Climb

PASADENA, Calif., March 8.—(AP)—Chicago White Sox may not reach the world series next fall, but they hope to wind up in the American League first division.

If they do, the man probably most responsible will be manager Ted Lyons.

Big Ted took over the chores of Jimmy Dykes last May. The Sox were resting casually in seventn place. Winners of 10 games and losers of 20 at that time. When the season endded they were fifth, two games out of the first division.

LYONS, NOW on the inactive list after 20 or more years as a mainstay of the Sox pitching staff, at this phase of spring training is still tinkering around with the squad.

In some departments, notably the catching and third base spots, they seem no better and no worse than last year. They should be stronger at first, second, shortstop and the outfield.

On the hitting side, there'll be standby Luke Appling, whose .309 was the only above .300 last year. Thurman (Spec) Tucker and Taft Wright, both now a year away from military service, may return to pre-war form, Bob Kennedy should improve his .258 considerably.

WITH VETERAN JOE Kuhel on deck as a valuable reserve, Murrell Jones, a power hitter, may get the call at first. Cass Michaels at 21, looms as a brilliant regular at second, while short and third are still in the experimental stage.

Six-foot 3½ Jack Wallaesa has been used at short, and if he can make the grade, Appling may be switched to third.

Dario Lodigian would be the third base choice, but an elbow misery makes him doubtful.

Mike Tresh and Skeeter Dickey will handle most of the catching, and as for pitching—

ED LOPAT (13-13), Gordon Maltzberger (7-5), reliefman Earl Caldwell (13-4), Frank Papish (7-5), who was coming along fast at the finish last season, veteran Eddie Smith (8-11), Orval Grove (8-13), the returning Thornton Lee and Joe Haynes (7-9) comprise the better known hurlers.

Moose Fastball Club To Meet

The Moose senior men's fastball team will hold a meeting in the Polish Hall on Sunday night at 8 o'clock. All last season's players and any others interested in lining up with the Moose team for 1947 are asked to attend.

Winnipeg Flyers Beat Stylists 6-3

WINNIPEG, March 8-(CP)- Winnipeg Flyers defeated their city rivals, Stylists, 6-3 here last night to take a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series for the Manitoba senior hockey championship.

Surprising Upsets In Coast Hockey

By Erwin Fricke

VANCOUVER, March 8 -(CP)- Railbirds are in a fever and dopesters, who thought they had the situation sized up, are befuddled for two jarring upsets have shaken this Pacific Coast hockey world.

When the northern division schedule of the Pacific Coast Hockey League ended March 2 with Portland Eagles perched on top and Seattle Ironmen in the runnerup slot, few doubted that these two powerful squads would be battling it out for division honors.

THE DISAPPOINTING Vancouver Canucks, last year's league and United States Hockey Association champions, barely wormed their way into third place. They would battle in the playoffs with the tough Eagles, who took them eight games out of 12 in season's play.

Still more hopeless appeared the plight of New Westminster Royals, in fourth place. The tired and short-handed Royals, who dropped nine contests out of 12 to Seattle Ironmen, had everybody's sympathy but nobody's money. As a matter of fact, yeggs blasted their arena safe and walked off with the $2,500 take from their last game.

WEDNESDAY THE underdog, injury-ridden Royals failed to crumple before the Seattle onslaught. Trailing 4-1 in the third period they bounced back with three quick goals to tie the score and went on to win the first game of the best-of-five semi-finals 5-4 in overtime.

Vancouver Canucks promptly duplicated the feat Thursday by coming from behind in the third period with three quick goals to best the top-dog Portland Eagles 4-3 in their first semi-final encounter.

In the southern division, Hollywood Wolves, with one game to go in the 60-game schedule, have amassed 42 wins for top honors. They will meet third-place San Diego Skyhawks, March 11, in the first game of their southern division semi-final series.

LOS ANGELES Monarchs, who have cinched second place, tangle with fourth-place Fresno Falcons. Oakland Oaks and the luckless San Francisco Shamrocks failed to catch playoff berths.

Winner of the individual scoring honors in the northern division was big Jim Planche of Portland Eagles. Planche set a new scoring record for the league with 43 goals and 65 assists for 108 points. Roy McBride of San Diego Skyhawks, with 102 points, leads southern division marksmen.

In junior hockey, New Westminster Cubs captured Pacific Coast Junior Hockey League honors, but bowed 3-1 in a best-of-five BC final series against Trail junior Smoke Eaters.

Woodstock Arena "Closed" to OHA

TORONTO, March 8. — (CP) — The Woodstock arena was ruled "closed" to OHA hockey, as a result of an incident in a junior "B" playoff contest Feb. 28, in which referee Red Dunn of Hamilton "was knocked unconscious by a thrown missile," at a meeting of the OHA sub-committee Friday.

The ruling said the rink must not stage further OHA contests "until its management can satisfy the OHA as to its ability to control the conduct of spectators at hockey matches."

Boxing School Is Well Attended

Fifty of Edmonton's amateur boxers were in attendance at the opening of the boxing school being sponsored by the City Recreation Commission at the USO Hall on Thursday night. Mickey McGuire, well known in Edmonton boxing circles, assisted by Alf Tansey, Walt Maddis and Johnny Ego, instructed the boys in boxing fundamentals during the evening.

This school is being provided for boys who wish to attend. Membership cards will be issued on Thursday, March 11th. These classes include instruction for both senior and junior boys. Junior classes start at 7 p.m. with the senior boys taking over at 8:30 p.m. Classes will also be held at 1:30 on Saturday for juniors and at 2:30 p.m. for senior boys.

This school is under the supervision of Jack Reilly, playground supervisor with the City Recreation Commission. Any one interested in assisting with instruction at this school is asked to contact the Recreation Office, 602 Civic Block.

Barney Ross Helps Spread Religion

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., March 8-(AP)-Barney Ross, former world's lightweight and welterweight champion, is lending a hand here in a fight to spread religion.

He is assisting Father Frederick Gehring raise money for a mission in China—a promise made to the priest on Guadalcanal when as a marine he was fighting the Japanese.

In those days of 1942, Ross, an orthodox-raised Jew, told Father Gehring that "if we get out of this" he would help the priest realize his ambition of establishing the Chinese mission.

Father Gehring was on the island as spiritual advisor. He played the violin and Ross a pipe organ and they became close friends.

Art Levine Stops Herbie Kronowitz

NEW YORK, March 8 -(CP)—Rugged Artie Levine, whose chief claim to fame is that he had welterweight champion Ray Robinson on the floor last November, slugged out a 10-round decision victory over another up-and-coming Brooklyn welterweight, Herbie Kronowitz, in Madison Square Garden last night. Levine weighed 164; Kronowitz 157¾.

Finals Reached Badminton Tourney

VANCOUVER, March 8 -(CP)-Another Dick Birch-Johnny Samis battle—long loved by Vancouver shuttle fans—is expected to highlight the east-west battle in the women's and men's singles finals of the Canadian badminton championships here today. Mrs. Dorothy Walton of Toronto will meet Mrs. Clare Lovett of Vancouver in the women's section.

The Toronto ace, who called this west coast city home before moving to the east during the Second World War, will have a strong rooting section behind him when he steps on the court for the Canadian crown. Old time followers of the ancient English game here well remember some of the pre-war matches between the two.

Samis bested Birch twice in 1939—winning the city and British Columbia titles with Birch as his opponent in the finals each time. Dick gained a measure of revenge the following year at Spokane, Wash., when he triumphed in an exhibition tilt with Samis.

The Torontonian advanced to the finals after a pair of tough sets against Jimmy Forsythe of Vancouver 15-13, 15-11. Samis got his final berth by eliminating Jack Muir of Toronto after a bitter two set tussle in which Samis won the first handily 15-3, and a second set in which he was forced to call on all the tricks he knew to win 15-11.

Bob Falkenburg In Tennis Final

NEW YORK, March 8 -(AP)—Cannon-ball Bob Falkenburg last night blasted Billy Talbert out of the national indoor tennis championships, keeping intact the jinx he has held over the Wilmington, Del., star since the major outdoor meets last summer.

Falkenburg, 21-year-old national collegiate champion from Los Angeles, whipped Talbert 7-9, 6-4, 0-6, 6-4 in the semi-finals of the 44th annual tournament and earned a shot at Jack Kramer today for the title.

It was Falkenburg's third major tournament victory over Talbert in less than a year.

Kramer, the No. 1 player in the United States, defeated Falkenburg in straight sets in the semi-finals at Forest Hills last year.

Doris Hart of Coral Gables, Fla., ended the two-year reign of Mrs. Helen Pederson Rihbany as queen of American indoor tennis and will battle it out with Pauline Betz of Los Angeles for the crown today.

Getliffe Becomes Referee In NHL

MONTREAL, March 8-(CP)-Ray Getliffe, National Hockey League linesmen and former left winger with Montreal Canadiens will make his debut as a NHL referee at Toronto tonight when Maple Leafs meet Chicago Black Hawks, it was announced last night by Ken McKenzie, publicity director of the league.

Getliffe retired from the NHL at the end of the 1944-45 season as a player with Montreal Canadiens. The folowing year he served as a referee with Quebec amateur leagues and at the start of the current season was signed by NHL president Clarence Campbell as a linesman.

Greenberg Happy With Pittsburgh

MIAMI BEACH, March 8 -(AP)-Hank Greenberg aches in every muscle and joint these days, and his manner of running is not a thing of grace and beauty, but the big home-run king is a happy man as he works out with Pittsburgh Pirates.

"I don't know how Pittsburgh feels about having me," he smiled through rivulets of perspiration, "but I know I'm mighty glad to be with this outfit.

"I guess they thought out in Detroit they were fixing me up properly when they sold me, but the way it is turning out it might prove the greatest break of my life."

Despite his many pains, including a stiff right arm, Hank is working harder than in many a spring.

May Ban Mid-Week Sports In Britain

LONDON, March 8 -(Reuters)—Banning of mid-week sports meetings, including soccer matches, in Britain as another step in fuel economy will be considered at a government policy meeting next week, it was learned Friday.

Representatives of leading sports organizations, it was believed, will attend and will have a chance to answer the argument that mid-week events entice industrial workers to take time off.

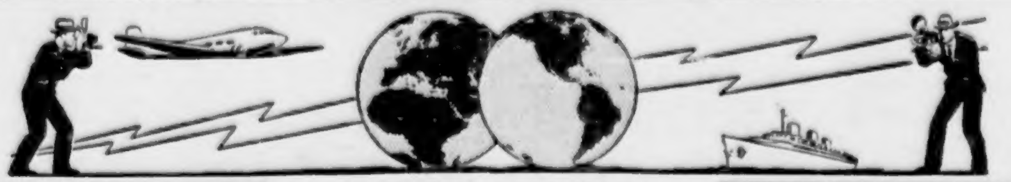
U. N. GREEK BORDER COMMISSION QUESTIONS ALIENS IN PIRAEUS



SYMPHONY IN N. CAROLINA, HULA IN HAWAII, ENTERTAIN LAWMAKERS

Copyright, 1947, by Acme Newspictures

SCHOOL'S OUT—In this case it's because the teachers are on strike and these Buffalo high school students with no classes to attend just can't stay away. They're climbing up the front of the school building.

TROUBLED FACES IN TROUBLED GREECE—A representative of the Greek Border Commission of the United Nations questions Bulgarians, Yugoslavs and Albanians interned at Piraeus, Greece. Some of these nationals have been denounced by their own governments as traitors, quislings and war criminals. The Commission is trying to solve peacefully the troubles between Greece and her neighbors. (Official U.N. Photo.)

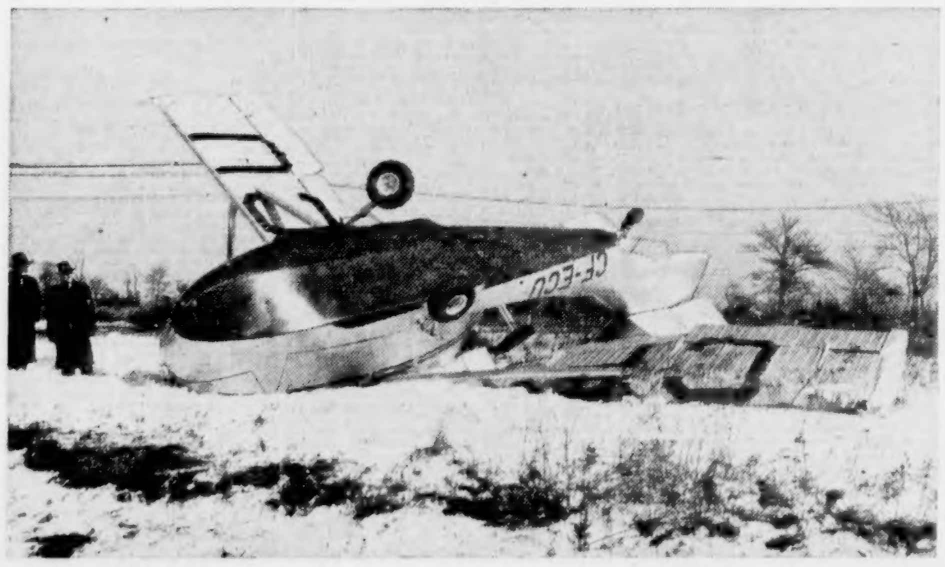
COLD WORK—The ice-breaker, the Northwind, plows through heavy ice floes in the Antarctic, clearing the way for ships of the Byrd expedition. Ice barrier seen faintly in the background is 60 feet high. (Official U.S. Navy Photo.)

MAYLIA is her name, and in Cantonese it means beautiful. Maylia is Hollywood's first Chinese movie starlet since Anna May Wong.

LEGISLATIVE MUSIC—With sweet sounds of wood, brass and strings, musicians of the North Carolina State Symphony demonstrate to legislators at Raleigh just what music means to the taxpayers. The concert was given in appreciation of past support by the legislature.

WELL TRAINED—Herbert F. Geisler (left), Chicago attorney, is blind and "Tina" does his "seeing." But when Geisler went to the polls the other day with his mother (right) Tina did an extra job for him—dropped his ballot carefully in the ballot box.

POUNDING OUT A VICTORY—Alvin Williams of Oklahoma City (right) takes a beating from Cliff King of Toledo in a three-round 160-pound bout during the Chicago Golden Gloves championships.



SHORT FLIGHT—This new amphibian plane crashed at East Farmingdale, L.I., just after its take-off. Its four passengers, one a woman, got first aid treatment for injuries instead of the trip to Canada they had expected.

GUESS WHO?—The girl behind that veil is the Brazilian bombshell, Carmen Miranda, who is all dressed up in a blonde wig for her role as a mysterious French singer in her new picture.

SHE KNOWS HER SIGNALS—Assigned as a traffic policeman, this Bulgarian militia girl proved so efficient that she has been given the most important square in Sofia, near the Foreign Ministry and Parliamentary buildings. One flag means "stop," the other "go."

BRACER—A year ago, Grace Jane Berry, a University of Missouri student at Columbia, Mo., dislocated some vertebrae in her neck. Now, with the brace she wears above, she's back at class.

LAWS AND LEIS—A hula dancer and a native orchestra strut their stuff in the Hawaiian Senate chamber in historic Iolani Palace. They were the feature attraction at the opening of the territorial legislature.

FIRE AND ICE—Ice encrusted firemen and equipment battle a spectacular blaze at a soap powder factory in Chicago. They finally brought the flames under control but not until $75,000 damage had been done.

FOOD IN THE OPEN

In many parts of the world no great attention is paid to keeping food clean and sanitary. It is often sold in open-air markets like the bazaar in a Turkish town pictured in Fig. 1, wide open to insects, dust, and the handling of all sorts of customers. Fig. 2 is another Eastern scene, showing flat loaves for sale in the street. Severe food shortages still exist in many lands. Canada's export of grain, through its huge terminal elevators (Fig. 3), helps to relieve hunger throughout the world.

Curlers of Dewberry Have Good Season

Curlers generally at Dewberry, a hamlet 30 miles northeast of Vermilion, have enjoyed a good season of the sport. It is a favorite game among residents despite having only one sheet of ice. Pictured is the Fred Braithwaite rink which competed in the bonspiel at Calgary where the foursome won first prize in the Gas Company event; at Edmonton placing second in the Price-Andrews competition and at Vermilion where the rink carried off first prize in the Brunswick hotel event. The rink is, standing, left to right, Neil Jones, playing third; Alfred Redman, playing second and left to right sitting, Don Braithwaite, lead and Skip Fred Braithwaite. While having only one sheet of ice the curlers are active most of the day. In a recent mixed bonspiel commencing at 10:00 a.m. at Dewberry no less than 17 rinks took part. Draws were played all day

Amendments Before Committee

War Service Tax Exemption Reviewed in Legislature

Through [illegible] of provisions of the [illegible] Act which granted tax exemption [illegible] their home property while they were with the armed forces many [illegible] have been [illegible] Harper Prowse [illegible] told the Legislature Friday afternoon. At the time amendments [illegible] were in committee stage.

MR. PROWSE was supported [illegible] who [illegible] was one of the worst offenders of the act.

[illegible] agreed to withhold the bill for further consideration.

[illegible] Gordon Taylor [illegible] told the committee [illegible] to amend the Assessment Act.

Many of them are forced by [illegible] to occupy homes built on company property. Their homes as a result did not appear on assessment rolls and they were forced to pay extra levies in the form of poll taxes and additional sums if they were to be listed on a hospitalization contract.

HE ASKED Mr. Gerhart to hold the bill back in order that means might be considered to rectify this injustice.

He was supported in his stand by [illegible] Duke, SC Pincher Creek-Crows Nest, who told of similar situations in his constituency. He said some miners were paying two dollars a month rent for a building lot for which the mining company was paying the government an annual rent of $1 per acre.

Progress also was reported on this bill.

Instead of forcing families off their property during the depression, some municipalities had listed the property as delinquent in tax [illegible] for many years. Mr. Gerhart explained as he sponsored amendments to the Tax Recovery [Act] through the committee.

The amendment would make it necessary for tax recovery sales to be held at least once every three years.

THE MINISTER admitted that in some cases the department had

Mock Parliament Session Ended

Surprise move at the end of a fiery three-hour debate of the university mock parliament last night was Premier Hal Bronson's submission of resignation for his CCF government. Preceding an anticipated vote of confidence in the government, Mr. Bronson's move was carried unanimously by the 42-seat house, accompanied by cheers from the opposition. Reason for the unexpected resignation was that the [illegible] CCF government received too much opposition from the other four parties.

THE UNLOOKED-FOR step came at the end of a stormy second and final session of the mock parliament. Most heated debate took place between Opposition leader Edgar Gerhart's Social Credit group and the governing CCF party. To charges of CCF bureaucracy and totalitarianism by the Social Crediters, Edward Kemp, minister of transport and veterans affairs in the CCF cabinet, stated that "If the Canadian people fear totalitarianism, they should beware of Social Credit."

Police Hold 2 Rod Riders

Two 15-year-old "rod riders" were picked up by CNR special police at 6 a.m. Saturday after they had left a freight train in the Calder yards. They told police they had travelled from Chilliwack, B.C. Neither suffered any ill effects from the cold weather.

One youth said he was on his way to Toronto to contact his father while the other said he was bound for Saskatoon to stay with his grandmother. City police took charge of the boys and stated they will contact the parents.

To Hear Protests Election Changes

Consideration will be given to protests of Alberta cities against the suggestion that the province should institute a system of registration prior to election days when the agriculture committee of the Legislature, which consists of all members, meets Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock in the legislative buildings.

Friday the committee on municipal law will consider suggested amendments to the Edmonton city charter. Some protests are expected to be heard from rural members while this bill is being discussed, since some rural areas are opposed to cities of the province enacting daylight saving time.

RESIGNS Harold Bronson, premier of the University of Alberta mock Parliament and leader of the CCF party in that house, who submitted his government's resignation at the Friday night sitting.

50,000 Acres of Oil Leases Cancelled

Cancellation of more than 50,000 acres of petroleum and natural gas leases in the Fort Saskatchewan area was announced Saturday by the Alberta department of lands and mines. The leases were held in the name of the Anglo Canadian Oil Company, Home Oil Co. Ltd. and Edmonton and Calgary Corporation Ltd.

Leases were granted on 138,000 acres north of Vegreville to D. R. McCormick.

Other changes in oil leases were all in the southern part of the province.

Edmonton Nurse Gets New Position

W[illegible], former night supervisor of Misericordia hospital, Edmonton, has been appointed [illegible] in charge of the [illegible] hospital, it was announced Saturday by Dr. [illegible]. Her appointment was effective as from [illegible]. A complete new staff of nurses has been engaged at the hospital. A. Loucks has recently taken up duties as a member of the hospital board.

Red Cross Holding Several Messages

The Red Cross, 606 Tegler Building, Edmonton, is holding messages for Catherine, Grace and Robert Kennedy, whose last known addresses are believed to be Edmonton. The inquiry came from their father, J. J. Kennedy in Ireland.

Messages also are being held for [illegible], last known address [illegible] Block, Edmonton. [illegible] A message is being held for Alois Seper, whose last address was RR2, Edmonton, from Agnes Seper, Burgenland, Austria.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETING

There will be a meeting of the Edmonton Public School board in the board room, 310 Civic Block, Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Feed Costs Increased

Egg Price Structure Collapse Is Foreseen

A scarcity of eggs and a collapse of the present egg price structure was foreseen in Edmonton as threatening in the "not remote" future unless some action is taken to bridge the additional cost of feed wheat to poultrymen resulting in the 30½ cents a bushel increase recently announced for domestic wheat.

THIS IN PART [illegible] a letter to W. A. Brown [illegible] the poultry and marketing [illegible] services at Ottawa [illegible] Fiske [illegible] Co-operative [illegible].

Royal Bank Names Manager at Leduc

Appointment of F. M. Pow, first assistant accountant of the Royal Bank of Canada main branch here, as manager of the newly established branch at Leduc was announced today by W. A. Hendman, manager of the main Edmonton branch of The Royal Bank of Canada.

The appointment places Mr. Pow among the younger managers of the Royal Bank in Alberta.

Mr. Pow has a record of 25 years service with the bank, having commenced his career with the Peace River branch. Later he spent about four years at Strathmore and was with the Calgary branch for one year.

In Edmonton he served seven years as accountant with the South Side branch and five years with the west end branch. He is just completing his fourth year at the main branch.

Opening of the branch at Leduc follows the sudden boom of that town and district as a result of the new oil find in the producing well of the Imperial Oil Company [illegible]

Report Two Sudden Deaths

Two [illegible] sudden deaths in Northern Alberta districts have been received, according to R.C.M.P. [illegible] year-old [illegible] at his son-in-law's farm about two and a half miles east of [illegible] Thursday afternoon. The district coroner said the man died from heart failure.

The body of 52-year-old Peter Herbert Lattey, a resident of the Consort district, was found by J. Hutchings, a neighbor, in his home about 4 p.m. Thursday. He told police that he had not seen Lattey around for several weeks and so broke into his home yesterday where he found the man dead. The district coroner said he believed the man died about [illegible] from a stroke. No inquest will be necessary.

Tax Collections Reveal Decrease

Land and business tax collections, current and arrears, for the first two months of 1947 totalled $1,902,958.75 compared with $1,974,601.00 for the same period last year, a decrease of $71,655.27, according to Thomas Walker, city assessor.

Decline in sales of tax forfeited lands is given as the reason for the decline in collections. In the two months of this year these sales amounted to $108,507.88 compared with 240,690.67 for the same period in 1946.

Current land tax collection for the first two months of this year amounted to $1,707,880.99 compared with $1,663,011.18 for the same period last year, an increase of $44,869.81.

Fletcher-Gibb Wedding Held At Knox United Church

Bouquets of [illegible] the Knox United Church for the wedding Friday at [illegible] of Miss Margaret Gibb, [illegible] daughter of Mr and Mrs George M Gibb, and Harold Walter [illegible] eldest son of Mr and Mrs [illegible] cher, all of Edmonton. Rev. [illegible] G Turner [illegible] the ceremony. During the signing of the register Miss [illegible] sang I Love You Truly.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a gown of [illegible] fashioned with a fitted bodice having a sweetheart neckline and lily point sleeves. It had a [illegible] skirt and the long veil was held in [illegible] with [illegible] of the valley. The [illegible] a [illegible] the bridegroom.

ATTENDING the bride was [illegible] who wore [illegible] gown [illegible] yellow and [illegible] she carried a bouquet of yellow roses.

Best man was George Fletcher, brother of the bridegroom and the usher was Matthew Gibb.

Mrs. Gibb chose for her daughter's wedding a powder blue dressmaker suit with hat to match and [illegible] roses and lilies of the valley. Mrs Fletcher, mother of the bridegroom, also wore a powder blue frock with brown accessories and a corsage of red roses.

AFTER THE ceremony a reception for 6[illegible] guests was held when the bride's table was set with linen cloth and centred with a three-tier wedding cake flanked with lighted tapers and vases of spring flowers. Andrew Adamson proposed the bridal toast.

Later the couple left for a short honeymoon, the bride travelling in a powder blue frock with brown accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher will reside in Edmonton.

Group Hears Miss Gorrie

Miss Kathleen Gorrie, executive secretary of Gordon House, Vancouver, and consultant of [illegible] work [illegible] in Alberta, was guest speaker at a meeting of the Edmonton Ministerial Association in the Corona hotel this week.

TAKING as her subject "When the Home Breaks Behind the Child" and using a nursery rhyme as her text, "When the bough breaks the cradle will fall, and down will come baby, cradle and all," Miss Gorrie pictured the tree as a symbol of the community and the bough as that of the family, pointed out that when the family disintegrates the child and the community suffer.

In addition to the accepted essentials of love, physical care and training, the child needs a feeling of security in harmonious home conditions, she said. When there is disunity between parents and the home is on the verge of breaking up, the child becomes fearful and uncertain, taking out his feelings on society in the form of juvenile delinquency.

"WE ARE NO longer content to travel by horse and buggy," Miss Gorrie concluded, "yet our welfare methods have not progressed beyond that stage."

The Rev. E. H. Birdsall, chairman of the association, moved a vote of thanks to the speaker.

Flaky Sausage Rolls
(Meat Stretching)

1 pound Brookfield sausage
2 cups sifted pastry flour or
1¾ cups sifted hard wheat flour
[illegible] teaspoon salt
½ cup Swift's Blended Jewel
Cold water. Mustard

Cook sausages and touch with mustard. Sift flour and salt together. Cut in ¼ cup Jewel finely; then cut in ¼ cup Jewel coarsely. Swift's Jewel is so easy to work with—it's the blended shortening that gives you crisp, tender pastry! Mix in enough cold water to make a dough that will just cling together. Chill. Roll thin; cut into 5½ inch squares. Roll each sausage diagonally in a square of pie paste. Bake in hot oven (450°) about 25 minutes—or until Jewel pastry is golden-brown and flaky. Serve these Jewel Sausage Rolls piping hot with green vegetables. Menus like this are so hearty and nourishing for your family—save short-supply food for our hungry world neighbours!

NEW YORK STOCKS

NEW YORK, (AP)—Selected stocks attracted support in Saturday's market on the idea that Friday's sharpest relapse in four months had been overdone, but many leaders continued to seek losing territory.

The list negotiated a series of dips and rallies after a fairly fast opening. Activity, however, generally was on the downside. While modest plus signs held here and there near the close, declines of fractions to a point or more were widespread. Transfers for the two-hour session ran to around 700,000 shares.

Hiram Walker, with a loss of one point, stood out among otherwise quiet Canadian issues in the final hour. Canadian Pacific, Dome Mines and Distillers Seagram all were unchanged.

Midget Locomotive On Way To China

One of 160 locomotives and tenders destined for China under the auspices of UNRRA, this 150-ton locomotive is being lifted aboard the freighter Beljeanne at Weehawken, N.J. The locomotives are built especially for China's needs, and are equipped and designed to operate economically under supervision of the Chinese.

Livestock

EDMONTON LIVESTOCK

Week's stockyards receipts: cattle 1,486, calves 130, hogs 1,593, sheep 79.

Trading was brisk on the cattle market the past week, with prices fully steady, and in line with the advance of the previous week. Receipts were very light, insufficient good quality butchers on offer to meet requirements. The high for the week was 14.50 per cwt., paid for a few strictly choice steers, creating a new top for this season. The bulk of the choice steers on offer traded from 13.50 to 14. Choice [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] trading from 8.50 to 10.75 per cwt.

Stocker and feeder of suitable quality in demand. Good steers 10 to 11.00 with short keeps of good [illegible] up to 11.50 [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] cows 7.00 to 8.00 per cwt.

Veal calves: good to choice handyweights 13 to 13.75, choice lights up to 14 per cwt. [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] 8 to 9.

Hogs steady: grade A for shipment 20.75 per cwt., local plant 19.90; sows liveweight on yards 15 per cwt., dressed 17.50. Feeders 14 to 17 according to weight and quality.

Lambs steady: choice handyweights, locals 13.00 per cwt., off cars 13.50; good 12 to 12.50; medium 10 to 11 per cwt. Yearlings 6 to 8.50 per cwt.; light ewes 5.50 to 7.50, medium ewes 2.50 to 5. Feeders in very limited demand from [illegible] to 9.75.

Wheat Hits $2.75 On Foreign Sales

WINNIPEG (CP)—The price of wheat earmarked for export to countries other than the United Kingdom—known to the trade as class two wheat to distinguish it from that destined for export to Britain, which is known as class one—rose [illegible] one cent [illegible] to place it at the highest level attained since September, 1920.

No. 1 northern was priced at $2.75, one cent over the previous record first established a week ago and reaffirmed Thursday. In September, 1920, No. 1 northern, basis Fort William and Port Arthur, reached a peak of $2.85.

A fair sized export business in wheat was confirmed, with around 275,000 bushels consigned to the United Kingdom. No other export sales were reported Friday.

Milk Production Down 4% for 1946

OTTAWA, (CP) — Canada's dairy farmers produced four percent less milk during 1946 than in 1945, the bureau of statistics has reported.

The 1946 production amounted to 16,937,028,000 pounds compared with 17,626,772,000 the previous year, although farm income from the sale of dairy products rose six percent.

The income totalled $285,599,000, compared with $269,875,000 in 1945.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, (CP)—The Canadian dollar was unchanged at a discount of 4⅞ percent in terms of United States funds in closing foreign exchange dealings Saturday. The pound Sterling was unchanged at $4.02¾.

Person Is Shunned For Eccentricity

It is one of life's little tragedies that we have small taste for so many people who are the very salt of the earth. They are everything that is fine and noble. We respect them. Abstractly we admire them. But we don't chum up with them or make friends of them because they have habits and peculiarities that nullify their good qualities. And the poor souls go through life wondering why they are always outsiders instead of belonging to the clique.

And the reason that these unfortunates, who have all the virtues and are so lacking in the graces of life, are avoided is because they have a mental halitosis about which even their best friends can't tell them, as the advertisements say. So, being unaware of their affliction, they are unable to rid themselves of it.

THERE IS, for instance the arguer. A fine man. A pillar of the church. Full of good works and words, but he can clear out any club room inside of five minutes, for people flee at his approach as from the pest. There isn't a subject in the world that he can agree with anybody about. If you say it is a pleasant day, he immediately takes issue with you and begins to quote statistics showing it is hotter or colder, or wetter or dryer than it was on this same day last year.

As for religion, or politics, or popular heroes, or new books, you mention any of them at your peril. Whatever the point of view you take, he is "agin" it. And unless you have the presence of mind to assert that you are on your way to your grandmother's death bed, you are nailed to the cross for the next hour or two.

In the same category as the arguer is the woman who talks and talks and talks and talks. A saint on earth, she simply sloshes over with the milk of human kindness. If you are sick, she is there to nurse you. If you are hungry she will feed you. If you are in trouble she is Sally-on-the-spot. But she has a double action tongue and it never stops. You love the babbler and appreciate her good points but you can't ask her to a dinner party because she will monopolize the conversation and no one else will have a chance to put a word in edgewise.

THEN THERE is the man, God help us all when he is around and give us strength to stand him, who thinks he is a humorist. A distilled essence of Bob Hope and Red Skelton and Fred Allen and Jack Benny. Much may be forgiven him because they say he is a good husband and father, but when you have to spend an evening watching his village cut-up tricks and listening to him mangle the jokes of his betters, you feel that a lot could be said in favor of murder.

And there is the woman who enjoys poor health and who only has enough strength to spend hours recounting her symptoms and telling you what the doctor said. And There is the man who has a hobby and makes you look at his collection, sparing you nothing, than which there is no more torturing thing on earth.

And there is the mother whose sole topic of conversation is her children and who backs you up against a wall and makes you listen to the smart speeches of Junior and cute things little Mary did. And there are the innumerable husbands and wives who drag you into all of their marital squabbles and who kiss and make up about the time you are ready to go to Reno with them.

And they are all such GOOD people, and they would be so popular if they were only dumb.

HE'LL BE IN HOT WATER SOON: Viscount Mountbatten and Lady Mountbatten get a last look at London snow. They leave soon for India, where he will be governor-general and find things considerably warmer.

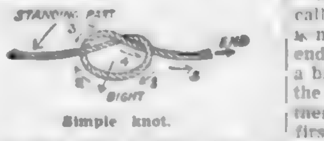
The Book of Knowledge

(Department: Things to Make and Do)

This and the following articles are taken from the Book of Knowledge and can be clipped for saving in a reference book.)

HOW THE SAILOR TIES HIS KNOTS

There is usually a time in the life of every boy when he wants to be a sailor. Every boy cannot be a sailor, but one part of a sailor's duties is very interesting, and a knowledge of it is likely to prove useful even to boys and men who are not sailors. That is the making of knots and hitches and the splicing of ropes.



Simple knot.

It is very easy to learn how to do these things. All that is required is a few pieces of string or rope, a stick or a rod of wood or metal to serve the purpose of what sailors call a marlinespike or a hand spike which is used for some knots.

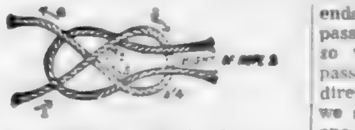
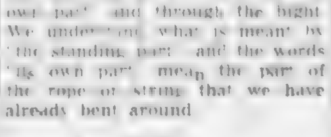
The first knot is the simple, or overhand knot. We notice in the picture that one end of the rope is marked "standing part," the other end is simply marked "end" and the loop is marked "bight." Remember these names, as we shall use them frequently in our descriptions of knots. The standing part means the part of the rope not right at the end, but a little way up, and in making a knot we always bend the end round the standing part. In some knots, we use only one end of a rope, and in this case there are two ends and two standing parts. Sailors call a coil or a loop in a rope a bight.



Common sheet bend.

Also notice that in our illustrations we have small figures where there are arrows. These arrows indicate how the string or rope is threaded to make the knot or hitch: and we must follow the arrow according to the figure beside it—2 coming after 1, 3 after 2, and so on.

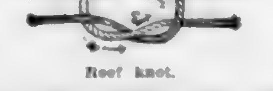
The next knot is called the "figure of eight". In making it, we pass the end of the rope round the standing part, then over "its own part" and through the bight. We understand what is meant by "the standing part" and the words "its own part" mean the part of the rope or string that we have already bent around.



Common bowline.

The next knot is what sailors call the common sheet bend. It is made with two ropes or with two ends of the same rope. We form a bight with the first end, and pass the other end through this bight, then right over both parts of the first rope and then under its own part. By passing the second end under its own part we jam it against the edge of the bight and prevent its slipping.

The next is called the common bowline and is a little more difficult. We must follow the arrows in their proper order very carefully. It is made with one rope or one end. Some little distance from the end of the rope, we form a bight with a half-twist, thereby making a loop. We pass the end up through this loop, round the standing part, and down again through the loop.



Reef knot.

The next, probably the most valuable knot of all is the reef knot. It is commonly used in joining two ropes or two ends of one rope. We make a bight of the first end, with the end and standing part side by side. Then we pass the other end up through the bight again.

Another way to make it is to pass the first end around the second end, then bring the two ends back to their standing parts, passing one part round the other so that two parts of each rope pass through the bight in the same direction. If we are not careful, we shall make the ends come out one under and one over the bight, thereby making a granny knot which is apt to slip.

In a later article, we shall tell you how to make other knots.

Bridge

By William E. McKenney

In proportion to its size, there is probably more bridge played in New Jersey than in any other state. However, there are only two Life Masters in New Jersey, one of whom is Samuel Katz of Millburn. He is a colorful little spitfire. You can depend upon action when you kibitz Katz.

His theory on today's hand was sound and one which can help to improve your game. Katz says that many players have "no-trumpitis" and are afraid to play a contract in the right spot.

When he bid two diamonds on this hand he was informing North, his partner, that he did not have the spade suit stopped and therefore he was showing his second suit. When he bid three hearts over North's two no trump, he definitely said "Partner, I do not want this hand to play at no trump. My bid of three hearts tells you that my hand is strong enough for you to bid four diamonds. Please show your preference between hearts and diamonds".

When North then bid three no trump, Katz naturally assumed that his partner had the spade suit well stopped. A spade was opened and North-South could take only eight tricks, while at diamonds they would have lost only a club and a spade.

To back up his theory, Katz further pointed out that when North bid two clubs over one heart, Katz would not have bid two diamonds if he could have handled the spade suit himself, and if he held some kind of a fit in clubs. Therefore North should have been warned to some extent by the two-diamond bid. But there was no justification for trying to play the hand at no trump over Katz' three-heart bid when the spade suit was not well stopped.

Minute Make-Ups

Climbing exercises are excellent. If you go into a gym you should use the exercise bar for developing legs. If your legs are heavy, wear hose with pointed heel lines and be sure to select the deeper shades of Beige. And wear plain shoes and simple pumps. Thin legs look best in the lighter champagne Beige tones, with square-heel outline. Shoes with straps and a little ornamentation are the most becoming.

Why Grow Old?

Dr. Lawton believes every older person should talk with a member of the opposite sex at least once each day, as Barbara Brown and Otto Kruger are doing in this scene from Warner Brothers' "Love and Learn."

By Josephine Lowman

In Dr. George Lawton's optimistic and helpful book "Aging Successfully," he says "Using a psychological yardstick, and applying it to people regardless of age, we can easily find examples of crabbed youth or young fogies. If there are adolescents who are senescents disguised by rosy cheeks and bobby socks, there are older people who are youngsters concealed by gray hair and bridgework."

If we stop to think about it we all know how true this is and can conjure up out of past or present acquaintances, startling examples to prove it. We have all known very young folks who were without humor or sparkle, hope or eager interest, those who were born bored and move through each day in gloom and selfishness. On the other hand, we know quite old persons who lift our heart with every meeting, who have an inexhaustible supply of enthusiasm, who are always beginning some new adventure, who constitute the best company we know.'

Youth and age are so much more attributes of the mind and heart and spirit than they are characteristics of physical appearance that it seems sad so many women have fallen under the spell of calendar years. After all, what does it matter how many years we have lived if we are finding life constantly entrancing and beautiful, inspirational and adventurous? I wish the phrases 'At my age' and 'At your age' as they are used could be dropped from the consciousness of women so that they would be free to express themselves in vibrant personalities and constructive living. The years from middle age on should be wonderful years.'

Dr. Lawton believes that a woman should always think of herself as a woman rather than as just a person, and he feels that every older man or woman should talk to another oldster of the opposite sex at least once every day. Companionship between older persons, men and women, is a great need and it is too bad that so few of them have the opportunity to form friendships.

If you wish to determine your own psychological age, you can have the test Dr Lawton uses as a yardstick in determining the age of his clients, if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it to Josephine Lowman in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Your Baby and Mine

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

When the child wakens late in the morning, the probability is that he will not be sleepy at an early hour at night. This late rising may be extremely convenient for the mother, but she is sure to be upset by the child's propensity for staying awake late in the evening.

The child who gets up at seven o'clock, or thereabouts, is the one who is ready for bed at 7 at night. And because it is obvious that an early bed hour is a desirable habit to encourage in children, getting them up early is the first step in developing such a habit.

The mother may argue that the child gets just as many hours of sleep when he goes to bed at ten and gets up at ten. Granted that he does, he is also menaced by many practices which would not exist in the daytime.

He is subject to the discipline of both the father and mother—tired and cross because their own day has been a difficult one. He is the victim of a multitude of demands, chief of which is not to be a little nuisance.

Because he is awake anyway there is a temptation to take him to adult places of entertainment, or to visit friends, where he plays hard, often with older children.

Such wakefulness in the evening complicates the picture when the parents want to leave the child in the hands of some other caretaker. That person will be sure to resent having to entertain the child, as well as get him into bed, instead of reading, studying, relaxing as would be her lot if the child were asleep.

The best way to set the child on the right path if the child's hours have become askew, is to begin the day early. Even if the child went to bed late the night before, get him up by seven o'clock. Give him a short midday nap, and by evening he will be in the mood for bed.

A checkup on the child's diet is part of the routine practice, for sleepless children are often poorly fed children, whose diet is deficient in some essential foods or vitamins, even though they seem to be getting enough to eat.

Our leaflet No. 38 "Sleeping Habits," may be had by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope with this request to Myrtle Meyer Eldred in care of The Edmonton Bulletin.

Points for Parents

Father: "Because our family has always held a prominent place in this community, I expect you to stand at the head of your class and in every way to be a credit to the family."

Father: "Doing your school work as well as you can will help you form the habit of doing well whatever you do, and today's lessons well done, make tomorrow's lessons easier."

Logical reasons for doing one's best are an effective incentive, but satisfying family pride may seem of little consequence to the younger generation.

75% Dislike 'Given' Names; Some Are Original, Startling

By Paul Phelan

NEW YORK, (NANA) — [illegible] baby's first word and baby's first step. But not everybody seems so happy about baby's first name. It's said that 75 percent of the people in the country wish their "given" names [illegible].

Next time you meet fellow named D. John Jones, ask him about the "D." If you're a friend he may soften up and confide the "D" stands for Derwillinger. The real story behind many a bask week-end has never been told.

A lot of this moniker misery could be done away with if parents would use a little imagination. It's true distraught parents have a mere 48 hours to put a name on the birth certificate. But are we jellyfish?

From "A" to "Z"

A London mother, with all her troubles, took time to give her daughter not one puny little name but 26, beginning with Amelia and ending with Zenas.

Sometimes naming a baby is admittedly tough. When number 14 came along the Bowens of Iowa called him "Finis." When number 15 came they were stuck. But not for long. They called him "Postscript."

The place the baby is born will frequently suggest a name. A baby born in a lifeboat was named after the boat, Vigna. A boy born in a midwestern flood was called Noah. Of course Northside Memorial Hospital Smith might not sound too well.

Naming babies after a city or town helps. Years ago in England, Philadelphia was a popular name for girls. Portland Hoffa, wife of Fred Allen, is probably the best-known of such names in this country. But we've been hearing a lot about Sioux City Sue lately.

"Poore" Pickens

A man in Australia once thought his daughter was not glamorous enough, and called her Poore Pickens.

Our Puritan ancestors thought up somber names like Humility Bradford, Hate-Evil Scott, Elected Mitchell, and Kill-Sin Williams. Down South Africa way in Nyasaland, the young native couples like to pick [illegible] names. One [illegible] a long while used [illegible] logues as source book. Then [illegible] tain is named Oxford University Press.

Speaking of book learning in Louisiana Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bardwell called one son Duke and the other Loyola, after favorite universities.

V-8 Ford

Current events will often provide the spark for a name. A Texas man named Ford called his latest son V-8. A Bronx man, in the 1930's, named his daughter Norma Depression Jacobson. Another man was said to have called his son Prosperity, figuring he'd never get lonesome because his son would always be just around the corner.

A Brooklyn man named Doe gave his son the name John, which was, naturally, entirely legal. In the war a sergeant called his baby Points, a young lady out west was named Invasia Renfrow, and a California girl got the title Dee Day Edwards.

A southern boy who was inducted into the army said he couldn't remember his name. Before the hurriedly summoned psychiatrist arrived, the youngster explained his name was so lengthy he had to carry it written on a card. The card said: "Daniel Wisdom May I Know Steven Faith And Spirit Chose John's Divine Communion Field Moses Meekness and Joshua Zeal Wins The Day And Conquer All Murphy." His buddies were glad when they could simply call him "Sal."

Be Wary of Initials

Another thing to remember is initials. No one wants his son to be a H.O.G. or his daughter a S.A.P. Of course such girls [illegible] become a girl by [illegible] may leave a G.A.P. in one family to become a G.A.G. in another.

Psychologists say certain names call up certain pictures. Rightly or wrongly people picture Richard as [illegible]; Edward as friendly; Joan as young and good-looking; Adrian as artistic; Thomas as conservative; and Harry, of course, as a person who wears glasses and plays the piano.

Here's a confidential tip: All parents want their babies to be one in a million. Then why do they give them names like Mary, which is one in 24, or Elizabeth, which is one in 27? There are 6,000,000 Marys in the United States, according to one source, and 4,000,000 Johns; and James, George, Charles and William account for 20,000,000.

Which shows, at least all boys aren't named Tom, Dick, and Harry.

Gen. Marshall Wary; Can't Face Shrimp

WASHINGTON, (NANA)—Rugged healthy Gen. George C. Marshall, the new secretary of state, has [illegible] weakness: he is allergic to shrimp.

"How does it affect him?" Mrs. Marshall repeats. "Why, he'll be unconscious in 30 minutes. So at parties I taste suspicious looking dishes first, then give Gen. Marshall the nod. I make the shrimp test."

At one large affair recently, "Shrimp a la Marshall" had been prepared especially in the general's honor.

"But," laughed Mrs. Marshall, "if shrimp had come first there wouldn't have been any Marshall left."

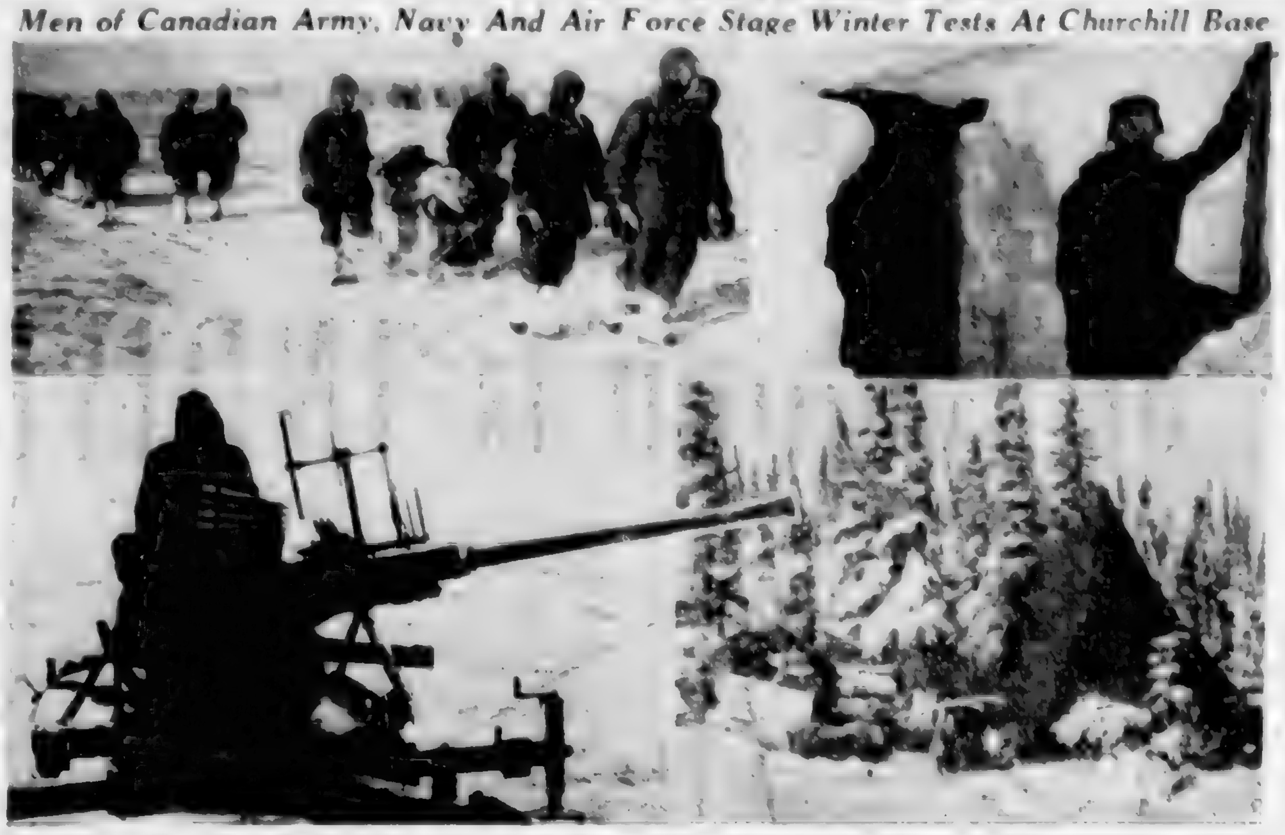
Men of Canadian Army, Navy And Air Force Stage Winter Tests At Churchill Base



Men of the Canadian army, navy and air force stationed at Churchill, Man., along with experts from the American armed services, find this outpost a bleak and inhospitable region during the winter with low temperatures worsened by almost constant winds. At top left a group of Canadian soldiers on a two-day route march start over the frozen tundra hauling equipment and supplies on sleighs. Top right shows a snow tunnel dug by the men to reach their sleeping quarters in one of the barrack huts at Fort Churchill with Pte. Art Killaron from New Brunswick indicating depth of the snow. Artillerymen are pictured lower left trying out an anti-aircraft gun during cold weather tests near the fort, and at lower right is shown a typical night camp pitched in a patch of woods during a trek away from base.

Woman Hated as Collaborationist Actually Allied Agent in Denmark

NEW YORK, (NANA) — They hated Jenny Holm in Denmark during the war, hated her as no woman probably has been hated before. She collaborated with the despised Nazi occupiers of the spunky little Scandinavian nation. And yet Denmark's No. 1 collaboratrix was a British agent!

The young and lovely Danish woman married a German soon after her country was overrun by Hitler's legions. He was killed later at the Russian front. But [illegible] the [illegible] of the [illegible] of Denmark.

When Denmark was liberated, Jenny Holm was among those most eagerly sought out by underground fighters and other patriots eager for revenge. But she had disappeared.

Now, a disatch from Germany to Svenska Dagbladet of Stockholm reports she is still busy fighting the Germans on behalf of British intelligence—for whom she'd been [illegible] the occupiers, braving the bitter hatred of her countrymen.

Today she's helping round up so-called "werwolf" gangs of last-ditch Nazis who are still fighting the Allies. Already this brilliant double agent has been [illegible] in rounding up the [illegible] um league [illegible] Otto Schwe[illegible]

GINKY'S MISTAKE

THE supper dishes had been washed and put away. The Teenie Weenie Cook dropped a soap flake into an acorn shell dish, filled it with hot water from the cook stove tank and took down several soiled Teenie Weenie dish towels from the rack against the kitchen wall.

"I have to wash out these towels," the Cook told Gogo, who was warming his hands at the stove, "and I wonder if you'll help me out by going to the smokehouse and fetching in a half ham that's hanging near the door. We haven't a bit of meat in the house for breakfast."

"Suah," answered Gogo, "Ah'll get de ham." He reached for a Teenie Weenie lantern that stood behind the kitchen door, for it was dark outside. He took off the chimney, filled the cherry seed bowl with a drop of oil and lit the wick at the stove.

The Cook took the tiny smokehouse key out of a cherry seed vase on the wall shelf and handed it to Gogo, who went out humming a Teenie Weenie song. When he reached the smokehouse, made from a tomato can, Gogo unlocked the tiny padlock, stepped into the can and removed the half ham from the smoke rack. Just as he took it down, he heard a noise outside.

"Who dat?" he said, peering through the door.

There was no answer and no one was in sight. He stepped out of the can, set the lantern and the ham on the ground and was about to close the door when he heard soft footsteps. He swung around just in time to see Ginky snatch up the ham. Gogo made a flying tackle and caught the mouse as he started off.

Now Ginky is a very daring mouse but he would never try any of his tricks when a number of Teenie Weenies were together. Seeing Gogo alone, he thought he could steal the ham but he soon discovered he had made a very grave mistake, for Gogo is mighty strong and as bold as a weasel. In no time the mouse was flat on the ground with Gogo sitting on his neck. The Teenie Weenie grabbed the mouse's long whiskers and gave them a mighty twist, which made Ginky squeal at the top of his mouse voice.

"Dat's right," grinned Gogo. "Ah don't want to waste mah voice callin' de police. A little louder next time."

He gave the whiskers another twist and Ginky let out a wild squeal that brought the Policeman and the Dunce running to the spot. Gogo explained what had happened and with Gogo and the Policeman grasping the mouse's whiskers and the Dunce holding onto Ginky's tail they marched him off to the pint fruit jar which served the Teenie Weenies for a jail.

EGAD! INCOME TAXES! DO YOU BOYS WANT THE ASSISTANCE OF AN EXPERT?
YOU MIGHT HELP, AT THAT— YOU'RE PRETTY SHARP CUTTING CORNERS!
UM! JUST LET ME PERUSE THE REGULATIONS A MOMENT FOR POSSIBLE LOOPHOLES!
YOU'RE A CHAMP IF YOU CAN SIFT ANYTHING OUTA THAT BUT HEADACHES!
MY WORD! TOO BAD YOU WEREN'T SERIOUSLY ILL LAST YEAR SO YOU'D HAVE A MEDICAL DEDUCTION!
YEAH! WE SHOULDA CUT OUR THROATS!
HA! I SEE A WAY TO SAVE BOTH OF YOU A BIT OF MONEY!
SPILL IT, MR. EINSTEIN!
3-9
WELL, IT'S LIKE THIS: MACK, I OWE YOU $31.25 —AND, BUSTER, I'M INDEBTED TO YOU IN THE SUM OF $19.75—
JUST LIST THOSE TWO FIGURES UNDER "BAD DEBTS" AND CLAIM YOUR DEDUCTION— HAR-RUMPH!

OH, WILLIS, I'M SO THRILLED! MRS. KAHLER JUST PHONED THAT SHE HAS FINALLY LOCATED AN ANTIQUE CELERY DISH IN THE WILDFLOWER PATTERN-- AND I WANT YOU TO GO RIGHT DOWN TO HER SHOP AND GET IT!
MIND NOW, BE VERY CAREFUL WITH IT! IT'S A RARE ANTIQUE PIECE AND I PLACED MY ORDER FOR IT AGES AGO!
WHEN I THINK OF ALL THE YEARS I'VE BEEN COLLECTING THIS WILDFLOWER PATTERN --A FEW MORE PIECES AND I'LL HAVE A COMPLETE SET!
IS THAT WILLIS? GOOD GRACIOUS, IT IS!
HI, BUTCH! CATCH!
E-E-E-E-K! I SHOULD HAVE KNOWN BETTER THAN TO SEND THAT BOY!
J.R. WILLIAMS
MRS. KAHLER'S DAUGHTER IS DROPPING BY TONIGHT WITH THAT PIECE OF ANTIQUE STUFF! SHE HAD ALREADY LEFT THE STORE--SO I WENT ON TO THE REPAIR SHOP AND GOT MY SHOES!

MOON MULLINS
by Frank Willard
HECK! I MISSED IT.
OW!
HERE COMES THAT SURLY MR WHAMMY YOU HAD SO MUCH TROUBLE WITH, WILLIE.
GO SEE WHAT HE WANTS, PET.
HAVE I GOT A AIR RIFLE? MR WHAMMY DON'T BE SILLY.
WELL, I AIN'T EXACTLY ACCUSING YOU, MRS MULLINS BUT SOMETHING FELT LIKE A B-B SHOT TO ME AND I SEEN YOU PEEKING FROM BEHIND THAT CURTAIN.
OF COURSE, I CAN'T PROVE THAT ANY OF THEM WAS GUILTY, BUT IF I DO—
HA! I SEE THROUGH IT ALL, NOW.
GOING AROUND MAKIN' TROUBLE FOR FOLKS. I'M SICK OF IT!
THERE. LET THAT LEARN YOU A LESSON!
ZOK!
NOW WHO COULD THAT BE HAMMERING ON THE DOOR LIKE THAT?
OH, BOY! SAY, MAMIE, I WISHT YOU'D GO OUT IN TH' ALLEY AND GET MY AIR GUN
NO. I TOLD YOU BEFORE THAT AIR RIFLES IS DANGEROUS TO PLAY WITH.
3-9
BUT MR. WHAMMY AIN'T PLAYIN!
DON'T WORRY ABOUT MR. WHAMMY. HE BUSTED HIS FIST ON WILLIE'S HEAD LAST WEEK.
YEH, AND NOW HE'S BUSTED MY AIR GUN ON IT!

WANNA BET?
OH, YOU WANT TO BET A QUARTER THAT YOU MADE A SNOWMAN WHO LOOKS EXACTLY LIKE ME?
YETH
THE ONE YOU MADE LAST WEEK WASN'T SO HOT!
3-9
YETH, BUT THITH TIME I MADE A GOOD ONE!
OKAY! (I CAN'T LOSE THIS BET)
THERE IT IS!
THAT?
OH, HULLO, MISTER SMITH! CAN HERBY COME OUT AND PLAY?
OH, EXCUSE ME! IT'S ONLY A SNOW MAN
WHAT! DID HE REALLY THINK THAT WAS ME?
YOU HEARD HIM
HELLO, MR. SMITH ...YOU'RE LOOKING GOOD!!
HAW! THAT'S ONE ON ME! IT'S ONLY A SNOW MAN!!
GUESS YOU WIN! HERE'S THE QUARTER
HERBY, YOU'RE SMART!
NO, I'M NOT!! I SHOULD HAVE BET FIFTY THENTS!

POPPY, I'M GOIN' OUT AN CRACK THE COCOANUT YOU BROUGHT ME FROM FLORIDA.
I JUST LOVE COCOANUT MEAT.
GOLLY, I HARDLY DENTED IT. I'LL HAVE TO HAVE A BIGGER HAMMER.
SO YOU'RE GOIN' TO BE STUBBORN, HEY?
POPPY, IT'S A TOUGH ONE!
I'LL SHOW YOU HOW, JUDY.
BOY, IS IT HARD BOILED!
I'LL BUST IT IF IT'S THE LAST THING I DO!
REALLY, JUDY. THIS WOULD BE MORE FUN IF WE CARVED IT INTO A FACE
CAN YOU DO IT?
LOOK, MOMMY. POPPY IS SCULPTING MY COCOANUT FOR ME.
JUDY, THAT'S WHAT I CALL MAKING A FACE.
THAT'S WHAT I CALL SAVING ONE.
